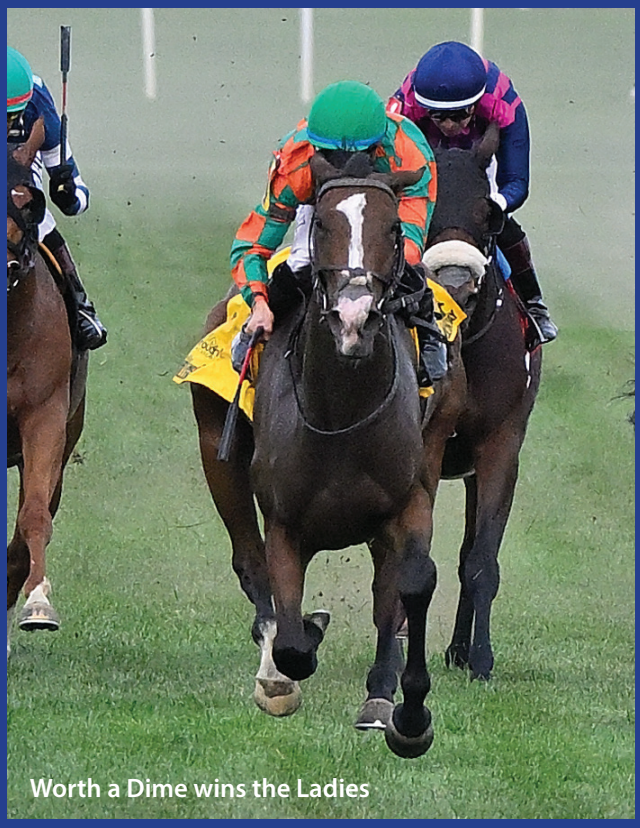
Barbadian Runner adds Maryland Million to big year

MOSLER IS THE MAN

#2 in Maryland only to Great Notion in 2025 stakes horses



Worth a Dime wins the Ladies

COUNTRY LIFE's outstanding War Front son MOSLER enjoyed a banner day at the 40th Maryland Million. His 3-year-old daughter WORTH A DIME, a homebred for stalwart Maryland breeder Victor Frenkil, came from last-to-first to win the $125,000 Ladies. MOSLER'S 2-year-old son MO'S GLITTER (inside) led until the final stride of the $100,000 Nursery before giving way to run second. He is a homebred for the Tanterra Stables of Drew and Wendy Komlo (foaled at Country Life; broken at Merryland Training Center).

And in the $50,000 Maryland Million Turf Distaff Starter Handicap, MOSLER'S daughter SHARMIN galloped home by 4 lengths.

With 9 stakes horses to his credit in 2025, MOSLER appears to be the likely successor to GREAT NOTION as Maryland's sire of superior runners.

Maryland-bred Splendora shines at Breeders' Cup for breeder Grant

By Joe Clancy

SHAMELA HANLEY / ECLIPSE SPORTSWIRE

Delawarean and Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred breeder Stuart Grant experienced his fifth Breeders' Cup winner's circle when Splendora – a 4-year-old Maryland-bred filly foaled at Grant's C-Dog Farm in Chesapeake City – won the $1 million PNC Bank Filly and Mare Sprint-G1 at Del Mar in California Nov. 1.

Trained by Bob Baffert for By Talla Racing, which spent $125,000 on the daughter of Audible as a yearling at Fasig-Tipton Kentucky in July 2022, Splendora rallied from fifth early to take the lead in the stretch and score by 4¾ lengths over Vahva with Baffert-trained favorite Hope Road third.

"She's a nice horse, I'm thrilled," said Grant, who attended with his wife Suzanne. "I don't take a lot of great credit for it because one, a lot of other people were involved and two, a lot of luck was involved. We weren't the owners, I wasn't sure we should go or didn't know what it would be like. The Breeders' Cup gave us tickets and were very nice in advance and said if we were lucky enough to win to come down for the trophy and all that. We had a great day."

Grant, who races and breeds as The Elkstone Group, bought Splendora's dam Miss Freeze for $45,000 at Keeneland November in 2020. She was carrying Splendora, who foaled in January 2021. She spent her first few months in Maryland before heading to Kentucky's Windham Hill Farm with her dam.

Despite the short association, former C-Dog broodmare manager Bobby Goodyear watched the Breeders' Cup with pride.

"Let me tell you, it still brings a tear to your eye, I really had to wipe a tear out of my eye when she won," he said. "You know how much hard work it is to have a racehorse like that."

Goodyear, who worked at Pennsylvania's Derry Meeting Farm before joining Grant's team, helped foal 1994 Breeders' Cup Turf-G1 winner Tikkanen so understands the achievement.

"It's fun, you never know when you're handling the next nice racehorse," he said. "Since day one, when we got that mare Miss Freeze, we loved her, and I have a video of Splendora out in the snow bucking and kicking at the farm. She loved what she was doing, just so happy all the time."

Second in her only start as a 2-year-old in December 2023, she didn't run again until October 2024 but won twice and finished second in the La Brea Stakes-G1 to close the year. She opened 2025 with a fourth in the 7-furlong Santa Monica-G2 and seconds in the two-turn Santa Maria-G2 and Santa Margarita-G2. She won a 6-furlong allowance in July and the restricted 1-mile Tranquility Lake in September, both at Del Mar.

Ridden by Flavien Prat at the Breeders' Cup, she sat just off a pace duel between Hope Road, Haulin Ice and Richi (Chi) through fractions of :22.12 and :44.64. As the leaders started to crack, Splendora emerged four wide and full of run off the turn, built a quick lead and was not threatened late while completing 7 furlongs in 1:21.79. The race lost three horses to veterinary scratches – Fee Blanche (Jpn) and morning-line favorites Sweet Azteca and Tamara.

"I honestly was a bit worried that we might have a lack of speed because of all the scratches, but the pace was fair, and I was able to travel good," said Prat. "I really felt like I was traveling well all the way around and as soon as I was able to go around everybody, she just gave me a good run."

Splendora won for the fifth time in 10 starts, to go with four seconds, while lifting her career earnings to $860,800 and extending her Del Mar record to four wins in as many starts.

She joined Pennsylvania-bred Mor Spirit as a Grade 1 winner bred under the Elkstone banner. Grant mainly breeds to race, but sends a few to the sales ring and tries not to look back. Like all breeders, he gets asked by his non-racing friends why he can't "just keep the good ones."

Grant laughs and stays positive.

"I've bred two Grade 1 winners and sold them both as yearlings," he said. "I've probably kept 75 to 80 percent to run, but that's the way it's worked out."

As a co-owner with a handful of partners, he experienced Breeders' Cup victories with Monomoy Girl in the 2018 and 2020 Distaff-G1, Aunt Pearl (Ire) in the 2020 Juvenile Fillies Turf-G1 and British Idiom in the 2019 Juvenile Fillies-G1.

Those mattered, but breeding a Breeders' Cup winner might be one of racing's biggest challenges.

"That's when you get an opportunity to play God and try to create a super horse," said Grant of the process. "The arrogance of trying to do that, when you think about it, is something. It's the ultimate in hubris, but I enjoy it. I do a lot of pedigree research, I use Werk and some of the others, but I study it myself too. Bev Grovert, who takes care of the babies [at Windham Hall], will give me some input, and look at stallions for me. We don't sell so much so we don't worry about who will be marketable. We try to worry about who will produce a racehorse."

Despite the efforts, and success, he's "convinced that breeding is 90 percent luck." Grant bred Mor Spirit – a Grade 1 winner at 2 and 4 – by sending Im a Dixie Girl to Eskendereya. Three years later, the same mating produced Bad Dude, who lost his only start.

Splendora's dam Miss Freeze is still part of Grant's broodmare band. Her foals include the unraced 2-year-old Demarchelier (GB) colt Oracle of Beaufort and a 2025 Tiz the Law filly. She is in foal to National Treasure for 2026.

Grant sold the 94-acre C-Dog this year, but called the change more of a life choice than a business decision.

"When our kids were younger, we'd go to the farm and I enjoyed that level of participation," he said. "Doing chores, being with the horses, helping with the foals, whatever we could do. Ten years ago, we started spending more time in Florida and we weren't around during foaling season as much so I'd watch it on my iPad. It got to the point of, 'Do I really need this farm if all I'm doing is watching on my iPad?' I love the Maryland-breds and we'll continue to breed some in Maryland."

NOTES: Maryland-bred Seismic Beauty finished 11th as the favorite in the Distaff-G1 . . . Maryland-bred Mindframe finished fifth in the Classic-G1 . . . Maryland-based Ultimate Love, who won the Selima Stakes at Laurel Park in late September, finished fifth in the Juvenile Fillies Turf. ■

Announced

By The Jockey Club, a traceability survey to record the status of a Thoroughbred, including the horse's use and location, so the industry can better understand the whereabouts of Thoroughbreds that have retired from breeding and racing. The Jockey Club requests all Thoroughbred owners complete the survey, which should take only a few minutes per horse, by June 30, 2026, but the survey will remain open so owners can update horses. In July, The Jockey Club will assess the responses, and an analysis will be provided at the 2026 Round Table Conference. A free Interactive Registration account, available at registry.jockeyclub.com, is required to complete. Once logged on, click Traceability Survey. The survey is part of The Jockey Club's ongoing Traceability Initiative announced at the 2023 Round Table Conference. The survey targets older horses born in 2017 and prior with paper certificates of foal registration, complementing the digital certificate traceability prompts that began in 2024. For horses with no survey response, The Jockey Club will follow up with emails to the last known connections of horses born in 2017 and prior with paper certificates of foal registration that do not have a Thoroughbred Incentive Program number or Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance activity and have not been reported as exported, deceased or breeding stock. Connections of horses with a digital certificate will also receive follow-up notices. The Jockey Club Traceability Initiative helps track Thoroughbreds after their breeding and racing careers, estimate the population, and improve traceability.

Congratulations to all our Maryland Million Winners!

For $2.5 million at the Fasig-Tipton November sale, Maryland-bred Grade 1 winner Seismic Beauty, as a racing/broodmare prospect. Bred by Matt Dorman's Determined Stud, the daughter of Uncle Mo won the Santa Margarita-G2 and Clement Hirsch-G1 stakes this year for trainer Bob Baffert and owners My Racehorse and Peter Leidel. Dorman sold the now 4-year-old filly for $400,000 as a weanling at Fasig-Tipton November in 2021 on a bid by Glen Hill Farm, which pinhooked her for $550,000 as a yearling at Keeneland September. Unraced at 2, she won her second start for Baffert in August 2024. Her 2025 campaign included an allowance win in April, then the back-to-back graded stakes wins. Favored in the Breeders' Cup Distaff at Del Mar Nov. 1, she finished 11th. Dorman bought Seismic Beauty's dam Knarsdale (carrying the future Grade 1 winner) for $430,000 at Keeneland November in 2020. In other Fasig-Tipton November returns, Maryland-bred broodmare Troublesome sold for $825,000 to Pennsylvania's Erdenheim Farm. Bred by Classic Thoroughbred 25, the now 11-year-old mare sold in foal to Nyquist and has produced stakes winners Amidst Waves and Look Forward, winner of the 2025 Eight Belles Stakes-G2. The daughter of Into Mischief and the Maryland-bred Not For Love mare Apple Pie Baby sold for $160,000 as a yearling in 2015 and for $20,000 as a 4-year-old at Barrett's in California in 2018. A 17-start racing career included three wins, the last for a $5,000 claiming price, and races in Kentucky, Maryland, Illinois, California, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New York. Pennsylvania-bred mares Imply ($775,000) and Blue Gallina ($325,000) failed to meet their reserves.

Projected

A 2025 Thoroughbred foal crop of 17,300 for North America, The Jockey Club, in its annual statistical posting released Oct. 13. Reports credited 1,099 stallions with covering 27,180 mares in North America during 2024, resulting in 17,103 live foals of 2025 reported to The Jockey Club on live foal reports estimated to be 85-90 percent complete. The reporting of live foals of 2025 is down 3.4 percent from last year at this time when The Jockey Club had received reports for 17,700 live foals of 2024. In addition to the 17,103 live foals of 2025 reported through Oct. 13, The Jockey Club also received 1,887 no foal reports for the 2025 foaling season. Ultimately, the 2025 registered foal crop is projected to reach 17,300. Stallions declined 6.9 percent from 1,181 reported for 2023 at this time last year, while mares bred declined 3.3 percent from 28,104 reported for 2023. The 2025 breeding statistics are available alphabetically by stallion name through the online Fact Book on The Jockey Club website at jockeyclub.com. Kentucky annually leads all states and provinces in terms of Thoroughbred breeding activity. Kentucky-based stallions accounted for 61.4 percent of the mares reported bred in North America in 2024 and 66 percent of the live foals reported for 2025. The 16,686 mares reported bred to 204 Kentucky stallions in 2024 have produced 11,288 live foals, a 2.7 percent decrease on the 11,605 Kentucky-sired live foals of 2024 reported at this time last year. Of the 10 leading states, only New York showed an increase in live foals, from 672 in 2024 to 704 this year. In the Mid-Atlantic, Maryland led with 302, but showed a 12.2-percent decrease from 344 in 2024. Pennsylvania produced 212 live foals, down 10 from 2024.

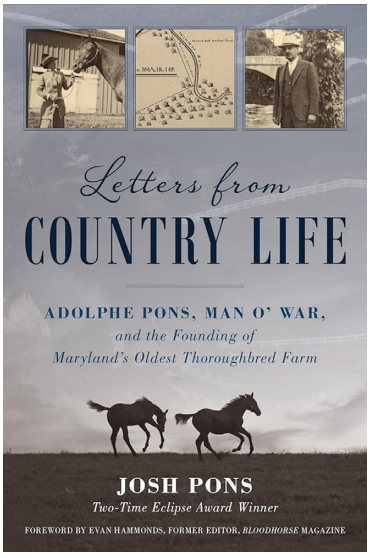
races using the Equibase rating system, were run Oct. 25 at Santa Anita. The rating provides an algorithmically generated predictive performance score based solely on race outcomes and measurable factors such as speed, race strength, track conditions, and trip factors. It was developed with the input of industry stakeholders with the goal of simplifying conditions, improving race competitiveness, and creating larger fields. "This has been a truly collaborative effort to improve race competitiveness and give horsemen additional options to complement claiming, especially for horses that have run through their conditions," said Kyle McDoniel, president and COO for Equibase. "I'd like to thank all of the participants in our various advisory groups who provided input from perspectives of racing offices, owners, trainers, breeders, and handicappers as well as other jurisdictions outside of the U.S." The Equibase Rating is calculated through an algorithm that factors in race records, performance analytics, and historical data from racetracks. It is different from the Equibase Speed Figure, which measures how fast a horse has been running in its past races with a single number and is based on the horse's actual time in combination with the condition of the track. The Equibase Rating will be incorporated into racetrack condition books for race planning and are available on equibase.com next to the horse's name in entries, statistical profiles, and past performances.



Received

The Dr. Tony Ryan Book Award, Marylander Josh Pons, for his book Letters from Country Life: Adolphe Pons, Man o' War, and the Founding of Maryland's Oldest Thoroughbred Farm, a retrospective of the golden age of racing viewed through correspondence to his grandfather, Adolphe Pons. Early in the 20th century, the senior Pons had served as private secretary to breeder August Belmont, a role in which he played an integral part in the breeding and eventual sale of Man o' War. Presented by the Ryan family's Castleton Lyons for excellence in Thoroughbred racing literature published in 2024, the award includes a $10,000 check presented during a Nov. 6 reception at the Lexington, Ky., farm. During the Great Depression, Adolphe Pons moved from New York to Maryland, where he acquired the 100 acres that would become Country Life Farm. It is today owned and run by his grandsons, Josh and Mike. Josh Pons left Maryland in the 1970s to pursue a career in journalism, which ultimately netted the third-generation horseman two Eclipse Awards. He returned in 1982 and continued to write as history was being made on the family farm. Eight years later, future Hall of Famer Cigar was foaled at Country Life. A decade ago, in the century-old farmhouse basement, Josh came across letters to his grandfather, many penned by titans of the turf. The resulting work was Letters from Country Life, a captivating peek through the veil of history. In curating and expanding upon what he learned, Josh brought the Thoroughbred world – past to present – to life. Two other finalists were honored at the ceremony, Arthur Hancock III for his autobiography, Dark Horses: A Memoir of Redemption, and John Perrotta, for his international mystery thriller, A Beggar's Ride. Lead judge Kay Coyte said, "Josh Pons already had established his writing talent, but [his latest book] is another level of literary achievement. In it, you discover historic gems just as Josh does, and worry along with him about the future of Maryland racing and his beloved farm." Ryan founded the award in 2006. Since his passing in 2007, the competition has been carried forward by his son, Shane. Judges this year included Coyte, an Eclipse Award winner and former editor at the Washington Post; Caton Bredar, award-winning television broadcaster now reporting for FanDuel TV; and

By 50 percent for the 2026 breeding season, fees for most of its established stallions, Maryland farm Northview Stallion Station. The move comes "as regional markets continue to face financial headwinds," according to an announcement sent to breeders by the farm in October. The change means Endorsed, Engage and Golden Lad will stand for $2,500 each, First Mondays and Galawi (Ire) will stand for $1,000 each and Uncle Lino will stand for $1,500. Great Notion, the leading stallion in the Mid-Atlantic who will be 26 years old at the start of the season, is booked full for a private fee. New for 2026, Maryland-bred millionaire and graded stakes winner Post Time will retire to the Chesapeake City farm and stand for $4,000 in 2026. The son of Frosted, campaigned by Hillwood Stable with trainer Brittany Russell, carried a dozen wins and $1,498,705 in earnings from 22 starts over four seasons with the potential for additional races before the end of 2025. Northview will offer a breed back incentive program for breeders supporting Post Time in 2026. Breeders who book an approved mare to him at his advertised fee will be eligible to breed a mare back in 2027 for $3,000. Those who participate in each of Post Time's first two breeding seasons (2026 and 2027) will also qualify to breed a mare in 2028 and 2029 for just $2,000 per season.

Great Notion, dean of region's sires, retired by Northview

BARBARA D. LIVINGSTON

Great Notion, the Mid-Atlantic's leading sire since 2022 and Maryland's leader since 2016, has been retired by Northview Stallion Station. The announcement ends something of an era in regional breeding, but also helps celebrate a game-changing horse.

"Great Notion has been nothing short of transformational for breeding in Maryland," said Northview general manager David Wade in a press release distributed Nov. 19. "His ability to upgrade mares, his consistency year after year, and the sheer quality of his runners have elevated our entire regional program."

Wade said hock issues related to age have limited the stallion's books to approximately 35 mares each year, enough to cover the shareholders. A pre-season evaluation this fall prompted the decision.

"We took some X-rays the other day, and we could see some changes from other years," Wade told Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred. "He's not suffering, he's getting around well, but at some point you've got to take a look and say, 'With his age, enough's enough.' He's been really good to us. We need to be good to him and be good stewards."

The son of Elusive Quality joined the Northview ranks for the 2005 breeding season after a racing career that included 12 starts, three wins and $194,608 earned. His sons and daughters have since earned nearly $50 million, led by graded stakes winners Coastal Mission, Future Is Now, Havelock and Ruby Notion and regional stars including Witty, Anna's Bandit, Twisted Ride, Lewisfield, Talk Show Man, Jazzy Idea and 2025 juvenile stakes winners Just Philtored, Slewperstitus and Big Cuddle. Great Notion, who turns 26 next year, will remain at Northview.

Great Notion raced for Silverton Hill Farm and trainer Darrin Miller, winning both starts as a 2-year-old in 2002 and capturing the Southwest Stakes as a 3-year-old. Ninth in the Blue Grass Stakes-G1 at Keeneland, he switched to shorter distances and placed in the Amsterdam-G2 followed by the King's Bishop-G1 at Saratoga that summer. At Northview, he earned his place in a stallion barn once home to Northern Dancer and then led by Not For Love.

"He'll stay in the Great Notion/Northern Dancer stall," said Wade. "Hopefully, he'll pass the torch on to another horse on the farm. We've been pretty fortunate. It went to him when Not For Love was retired."

Through Nov. 11, Great Notion had sired 55 stakes winners, 79 percent winners from starters with average earnings per starter exceeding $102,000. He sired a stakes winner in 18 consecutive crops and at least one Maryland Million winner for 16 consecutive years. The 2025 Maryland Million in October included three winners by Great Notion. His 2025 statistics are a region-best $4.7 million in progeny earnings – after topping $5.9 million in 2023 and $6 million in 2024 – and 64 winners of 115 races.

Great Notion covered 38 mares in 2025.

"There may never be another one like him," Wade said. "He elevated the entire region – breeders, trainers, owners and the reputation of Maryland racing itself. We're grateful for every foal he gave us."

Target Sighted

MAGGIE KIMMITT

Hayley Clark's childhood was every young girl's dream. The daughter of professional horsemen Joe Clark and the late Jen Knox of Top Rail Farm grew up with a literal barn full of horses, ponies and miniature horses at home. Whether she wanted to ride them, drive them, show them. . . all were there for her choosing.

She became active in 4-H, showing ponies in hunter and Western pleasure classes and driving the minis. One, Elfie, captured yet another driving title at the Pennsylvania State 4-H Show in Harrisburg.

"He has won six times, five times with me and four years in a row," she said. "My grandmother had some minis and you could compete them in 4-H, so I started doing it. He had been sitting at my grandmother's for about three years, so we thought why not try him. We also jump them in-hand and do trail. And I've had him for seven years."

Clark's success has not been limited to those disciplines. With both parents involved in the racing industry, there have always been off-track Thoroughbred projects. One favorite, hot-headed powerhouse Target Sighted, is the polar opposite of the diminutive Elfie.

Bred in Maryland by Charles and Cynthia McGinnes, Target Sighted was foaled at their Thornmar Farm in Chestertown May 7, 2006 (also a Maryland-bred, Clark is from the crop of 2007, making her a year younger than her mount). By perennial leading sire Not For Love, the dark bay gelding is out of the Shelter Half mare Cranberry Muffin. A black-type winner herself, Cranberry Muffin also produced stakes winners Two Punch Gal and All Smiles.

Target Sighted began his career as a 3-year-old May 26, 2009, at Delaware Park for owner The Maltese Cross II and trainer Fran Campitelli. Breaking his maiden at Penn National in his second start, he vaulted to stakes company in Laurel Park's Humphrey S. Finney Stakes, which he won. He followed with a score in the Maryland Million Turf, and returned to run in that race in 2011, 2012 and 2013, finishing fifth, fourth and third.

He spent the 2010-2011 seasons running for Cynthia McGinness and Francis Clemens. After an 11-month layoff, he returned to the races in September 2012 for owner/trainer Jessica Campitelli. She took the horse to Gulfstream Park before losing him in the claim box to trainer Wayne Potts and owners Worcester Investments at Pimlico April 19, 2014.

Target Sighted changed hands again three months later at Delaware Park, going to Thomas Iannotti IV for The Elkstone Group. Making just two starts for those connections, he ended on a high note with a win at Delaware Aug. 25, 2014. He took with him a record of 38-7-7-1 and $274,561.

The gelding spent the next several years with Travis and Wendy Kinnamon, foxhunting and competing in jumper classes. When the Kinnamons divorced and relocated three years ago, they reached out to Joe and Jen about rehoming the horse.

"We just got a call that he needed a spot, so we took him," Clark said. "We were a little hesitant at first; he was 17. But there was no reschooling involved. I jumped on him the first day he came. And there was just something about him. Sometimes you get on one and right away you think 'All right . . .' So then I thought, 'Well, I've always done hunters, so why not do some jumpers with him?' We've been doing that ever since."

At one point, Top Rail Farm had nearly 40 horses on the property. While Joe Clark specializes in layups from the racetrack, Hayley's mother Jen ran a thriving lesson and horse show business. They relocated from Cochranville, Pa., to Fair Hill four years ago.

Hayley Clark now works mornings as an exercise rider at Bruce Jackson's Fair Hill Equine Therapy Center. Among her colleagues there is Jonathan Joyce, who steered Target Sighted to that 2009 victory in the Finney Stakes.

Since her mother's passing in June, she has concentrated on scaling back the business and helping her father with the layups and off-track Thoroughbreds. When Target Sighted came to the farm, he was that right place/right time horse.

"He was kind of a schoolmaster and I was looking for something that knew a little more," Clark said. "He's not an easy horse to ride. But he's going to jump – he's always there for you, so I took him over to Second Nature Farm in Oxford, Pa.; we just did a little jumper show. He won a bunch of classes there. I took him to the Cecil County Fair too."

And with that, Target Sighted's next chapter began.

In both 2024 and 2025, he and Hayley competed in the Real Rider Cup, the Fair Hill-based charity show jumping event which raises funds for Thoroughbred aftercare. The pair finished seventh individually in 2024 as part of the third-place Young Riders team. Back for 2025 as part of Team Fair Hill Equine Therapy Center – which finished fourth – they were eighth individually. They raised $1,400 in 2024 and more than doubled that this year, receiving $2,515 in donations.

The 2025 renewal was undoubtedly the biggest outing to date for Target Sighted. For the first time, the Real Rider Cup collaborated with the Maryland 5-Star event and took place after cross country on Saturday, Oct. 18 – unquestionably the biggest and busiest day of the international competition. Calling the atmosphere sensory overload puts it mildly.

> "He gives me so much confidence, and he always has. He's still a monster and a hothead. He can be strong. But he's reliable. . . he's always going to jump."
> – Hayley Clark

Thirty-five riders – on seven teams – assembled to familiarize themselves and their horses (unmounted) with the arena before the official course walk. While there were a few initial snorts and balks, the majority of horses handled it calmly.

Target Sighted – oldest of the group at 19 – was not among them.

As Clark left the ring, the 16.2-hand dervish that was Target Sighted spun around her, scattering bystanders near the gate. Accustomed to his antics, she marched on undaunted.

"He was being so bad. I knew he would be electric in that ring," she said. "He was fired up schooling, even out in the grass ring. I think it was a lot of the energy, but he is a very high-strung horse in general. But I'm that type of rider; I like horses that are a little hotter."

With this show season in the rear view, Target Sighted will get the winter off before gearing up for 2026 (as a 20-year-old). He and a few pasture mates live outside with a run-in shed, as "he hates being kept in a stall."

And what's top of the list for next year? A third appearance at the Real Rider Cup.

"He's probably been my favorite horse I've ever jumped," Hayley said. "He gives me so much confidence, and he always has. He's still a monster and a hothead. He can be strong. But he's reliable. . . he's always going to jump. I knew nothing about him when we first got him, but he was just a class act from the beginning." ■

Walters' Maryland Million win goes back in time

Summer 1983, Barn K, Timonium. Henry Walters came through the hole with a horse to find a shedrow like nothing he'd ever encountered.

"Hey, you can't walk this late," came a deep voice from the down the way. The man sported a bucket hat, wore coveralls with no sleeves and held a rake. He presided over a stretch of dirt so neat, tidy and devoid of a single footprint – horse or human – that it could have been a Zen garden.

"Wait a minute," Walters replied. "This is Timonium. We don't hang our halters at 10 o'clock. We're still working here."

The shedrow artist, groom Lonnie Fuller, cackled, flashed a gold tooth, let Walters walk his horse through and no doubt fixed every divot before leaving work in a 1963 Chevrolet Impala while singing "Bony Moronie" or some other classic.

"Lonnie had that shedrow immaculate, looking like a pool table," Walters said. "I remember coming around the corner with a horse and he stopped me. We became really good friends after that, but it was a shock."

Walters had a few horses, worked until noon, probably longer. Lonnie groomed horses for my father, whose one client was George Strawbridge's Augustin Stable. I was just out of high school, working my last real racehorse job for the summer as Timonium hosted a full meet.

Memories of that summer came flooding back when Walters won the Maryland Million Classic with Barbadian Runner at Laurel Park Oct. 11. In 1983, Walters was in his fourth year of training. He won two races at Timonium that year, one more than the Clancy barn. August 4 must have been a big day for Barn K as Walters won the fourth race with Pation and the Clancys won the eighth with Rollicking Run. I can hear Lonnie crowing now, "Ain't nobody beating Barn K."

As Walters found out, Lonnie was serious about the shedrow. Timonium held a contest to encourage beautification efforts. We banked the corners in the stalls, put "Saratoga pillows" out front, washed webbings, rolled shanks, polished brass, painted tax boxes and installed green-and-white halved stall boards. The horses wore clean bandages and sported shiny coats and pulled manes. Raking was an art form. At some point, we put lime in a burlap bag and dropped it – gently and just so – to make a star pattern in the dirt.

Somehow, we lost the contest to Ann Merryman. We figured there was a bribe involved.

Every part of that summer feels like a throwback. A Connecticut-bred, Pation started 96 times and won 17 races. He made 21 starts in 1983, three at Timonium, and won seven. A Maryland-bred, Rollicking Run made 42 starts. She won five, finished second 13 times and third six times. Her 1983 campaign included 16 starts, including Timonium tries Aug. 4, 13, 23 and Sept. 4. Her 1982 also included 16 trips to the post. Her foals included three horses who made at least 62 starts. They won 17, 15 and 11.

Besides Walters, our Barn K – the end toward Timonium Road near the car dealership) – neighbors included Mike Goswell and Greg Bowman. Ann Merryman was at the other end. King Leatherbury's horses, and people (wow), were there. Georganne Hale galloped for Merryman. Holly Robinson worked for my dad. So did Kevin Martin. Other staffers included hotwalkers Two Hour Lou (he lasted two hours) and Every Other Day Ray (he showed up every other day), culture-shocked staffers from the farm in Pennsylvania and names and faces I can't quite summon.

Hale became a Maryland racing executive under multiple track owners. Merryman put together a long training career before retiring in 2021, and won the Maryland Horse Breeders Association yearling show with a homebred this summer. Robinson went to Canada to work for Roger Attfield (and took Lonnie with her) for a while. She meets a gang for dinner every Tuesday night. Sallie and Mike Goswell helped make Fair Hill Training Center what it is.

Lonnie died in 1999. I went to the University of Delaware that summer of 1983 and let's just say it's been awhile since I raked a shedrow. My dad turned 91 in October.

Walters is still at it. He won 10 races in 1983, one of just 10 seasons with double-digit victories in a career that spans 45 years. Three times – 1981, 2013, 2017 – he won a single race in a year. He went 0-for-37 in 2018.

Now a grandfather, he has the best horse of his life in Barbadian Runner. The 3-year-old, a $5,000 yearling purchase at Timonium, has piled up $730,630 in earnings with six wins in 18 starts. Through Nov. 6, his 2025 includes 10 starts, five wins, three seconds and a third. He's been first or second in his last six races – at Monmouth Park, Delaware Park, Colonial Downs, Charles Town and Laurel Park.

Lonnie would let him walk anywhere he wanted. ■

BARBADIAN RUNNER KNOCKS OFF POST TIME

By Joe Clancy

When Maryland-bred – but not Maryland-sired – graded stakes winner, millionaire and Breeders' Cup runner-up Post Time appeared among the pre-entries for Jim McKay Maryland Million Day, seeing him in the starting gate seemed like a longshot.

He was among 17 horses aiming for the Classic and 19 looking for a spot in the Turf. Surely, eight Maryland-sired runners would enter and keep the 2024 Maryland-bred Horse of the Year in the barn (and in deeper races).

Then again, maybe just his name made trainers consider other options because there was Post Time as the 3-5 favorite on the morning line against seven underdogs for the $150,000 Milton P. Higgins III Classic at Laurel Park Oct. 11. Program scratches reduced the field to six, bettors backed him to 1-10 and the gray 5-year-old carried a 10-for-10 record at Laurel Park while looking for one more signature hometown win on the 40th Maryland Million Day.

Barbadian Runner didn't read the script.

The 3-year-old son of former Shamrock Farm stallion Barbados scored for AJ Will Win Stable, trainer Henry Walters, jockey Forest Boyce and Maryland Million eligible horses everywhere. Sent off at 6-1, Barbadian Runner stalked from third early, took the lead in the stretch and won by three-quarters of a length over the favorite.

Call it an upset if you want, but Barbadian Runner delivered performances like that all year. The win was his fifth of 2025, to go with three seconds and a third in 10 starts.

"He gives you everything he has," said Boyce, who won her third Classic and 10th Maryland Million race. "He's just so reliable. You can't ask for anything more than that. He tries so hard. I love this horse. It means a lot that he gets to win a race like this – I feel like that gives him a little more street cred. Post Time is a big deal."

When he made his pre-entry Sept. 28, and the entry a week later, Walters didn't count on facing Post Time – whose foes over the last two seasons included champions Sierra Leone, National Treasure and Fierceness, Kentucky Derby-G1 winner Mystik Dan and sprint star Book'em Danno.

"I knew he was nominated," the trainer said. "I didn't think he'd be entered or he would even run, but what are you going to do?"

The Classic winner's circle included (from left) Tina and Henry Walters, presenters Chris and Tom Bowman (in memory of Maryland breeder Milton Higgins III), Pam Groh, stable namesake Adalynn Jane "AJ" Groh, jockey Forest Boyce, owner Scott Groh, Zach Groh and Deirdre Groh.

Reminded that some trainers scratched, Walters defended the decision behind his first Maryland Million win – sort of.

"Eventually, he'll have to meet some older horses along the line if he's this caliber of horse," Walters said. "Naturally, you don't ever think you can beat him."

Like Boyce, Walters figured his horse would try. Maybe that was enough.

The dark bay gelding, bred in Maryland by Shamrock, brought his form with five consecutive 1-2 finishes including a win in the $500,000 Robert Hilton Memorial at Charles Town Aug. 22. Still, he was taking on older horses and trying 1⅛ miles for the first time against a foe who placed in the Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile-G1, Whitney-G1 and Metropolitan Handicap-G1 last year. While not quite up to his 2024 form, Post Time came in with three wins (an allowance and two stakes at Laurel) this year and two graded-stakes placings including a third in the Woodward-G2 at Aqueduct Sept. 27.

They were the field's only stakes winners.

Looking for a fourth consecutive win, Blue Kingdom bounded to the front leaving the gate and was followed by Hittheroadjak as Boyce let Barbadian Runner settle while inside and third from post two. Post Time retreated to fifth, just behind All the Hardways and outside Mugatu.

Blue Kingdom led by 4½ lengths through a quarter-mile in :24.98. The field bunched after a half in :50.31. Boyce asked Barbadian Runner midway on the turn and he responded, easing out from behind the leader as Post Time revved up on the rail. They passed the eighth pole three abreast – Post Time inside, Barbadian Runner outside, Blue Kingdom in the center and finally starting to weaken. Barbadian Runner surged past, leaned in a little, put a quick half-length on Post Time and saw out the win in 1:51.09. Blue Kingdom stayed for third. After that slow first half, they covered the final 5 furlongs in 1:00.78.

Boyce loved every inch.

"It was a perfect trip," she said. "He's very tactical. You can put him where you need him. It really is rare to have a horse that is so good that way. I feel like you could put him on the lead, you could drag him back to last. You could do anything with him."

With Blue Kingdom in the two path around the turn, Barbadian Runner beat Hittheroadjak to a spot outside the

"The first day he came to the racetrack at Pimlico as a 2-year-old, they had just put new sand in the shedrow and after he had trained, I guess he had a bath, I can't remember, but he laid down and rolled in the shedrow. He thought he was at the farm. That's a pretty comfortable horse."

"It was in January, February, March, somewhere in there. I'd never sat on him in the morning. My agent did a good job and he watched the horse a couple of times, and he said, 'This horse is going to suit you,' so he kept going over there and asking. This one's all Jay, gets all the credit. He was right. He suits me very well. We get along very well."

leader – leaving the rail as the only option for Post Time and Sheldon Russell.

"That's where I wanted him to go, I'm glad he went there," said Boyce, counting on at least some intimidation inside two rivals. Running back on two weeks' rest, Post Time fought past Blue Kingdom, but didn't have enough for Barbadian Runner.

Owner Scott Groh all but rode along with Boyce, and was overjoyed on the walk to the winner's circle.

"Man, he was so game, because you know he's getting tired," Groh said. "He just fighting, fighting, fighting. Man, that was really cool. He's our boy."

Purchased by Groh and Walters at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic's yearling sale in 2023, the winner has earned 146 times – and counting – his $5,000 purchase price. Barbadian Runner won once in eight starts last year, but placed in the Maryland Juvenile and Heft stakes in December. He came out firing in 2025, winning the Spectacular Bid in January and Miracle Wood in February. Off a short freshening he finished third in allowance company in April and was fourth in the James Murphy Stakes on the turf at Pimlico in May. Two weeks after that, he dominated two rivals in the off-the-turf Jersey Derby at Monmouth Park, then finished second in three stakes – the Delaware Derby at Delaware Park and the Star de Naskra and Petramalo Mile at Colonial Downs.

"We just took baby steps at the time," said Walters. "He has progressively gotten better and better. I think he took his biggest jump in the Monmouth race, even though it was a short field. It's the way he did it. He looped around the field, won with authority that day. I guess that was the day that he accelerated getting better. The races at Colonial, I think it was a speed-biased track. It was hard for him to make up any ground on those horses and they were good horses that beat him."

Barbadian Runner further announced his quality in the Hilton, a quirky 7 furlongs at Charles Town, where he defeated Kentucky Derby starters Owen Almighty and Neoequos among others 13 days after the Petramalo. Off the win, Walters eyed the Maryland Million.

"He ran back in 13 days when he won at Charles Town," the trainer said. "If this was a target race, I couldn't run it in between. He got a little break, and we just trained him, progressed in his training as we got closer to the race. Yesterday morning, I blew him out through the lane because I wanted that kind of run from him today, and that's what he did."

Walters' saddled his first runner in 1980, won his first race as a trainer the next year and has been at it ever since. Forty-five years in, he trains the best horse of his life – a surprise, but not necessarily a shock. Groh studies pedigrees and liked something about Barbadian Runner. His sire sprinted. His dam Quiet Run never raced. Her sire Northern Afleet won going two turns, but short distances were his jam. Barbadian Runner started out at short trips, and gradually earned his opportunities to try longer.

"His sire couldn't run an inch over seven-eighths of a mile," said Walters. "You have to go back to the second, third dam of his dam to find distance. Over time, he surprised me. When we purchased him, we never dreamt that he would turn out to be this good, but he's gotten better each time, and we're just thrilled."

Before Barbadian Runner, Walters' top horse was Tommy Shelby. The $2,000 yearling purchase won his first two in 2018, placed in two stakes, scored twice more and got claimed away for $8,000.

"I've never been in it for saying, 'Hey, I need a stake horse,'" Walters said of training. "I just like winning races – cheap, whatever. As long as the owners are happy, it makes me happy. But this is icing on the cake, when you get a horse like this. Fortunately, he's been pretty hickory." ■

RIZERS, BAILES DOUBLE UP WITH HOMEBREDS

By Joe Clancy

Early on the 40th Jim McKay Maryland Million Day at Laurel Park Oct. 11, Nancy and Eric Rizer walked in the horsemen's gate and spied another race-goer eating an early-afternoon snack.

"You see that," Nancy told her husband. "That's what I'm talking about. You should eat more apples. They're really supposed to be good for you."

"What are they supposed to do for you again?" Eric asked.

"They lower your blood pressure. They do all sorts of things."

"Lower my blood pressure? I may need that later."

The apple-eater didn't share, but Eric made it through the day just fine – high blood pressure or no high blood pressure – as the Rizers won two stakes with homebreds Slewperstitus and Slam Notion.

"It's our first Maryland Million win and I'm almost beyond thoughts," Eric said after Slewperstitus won the $101,000 Glenangus Farm Lassie for 2-year-old fillies. "We're just absolutely overjoyed."

Bet down to 4-5, Slewperstitus broke from post seven and let others battle up front while never more than 3¼ lengths behind for Jevian Toledo. Fourth after a half-mile, the daughter of Great Notion rallied off the turn, sliced into the lead of Doc's Miracle and prevailed by a neck after 6 furlongs in 1:12.23. Ginger Snap, also a Rizer homebred, finished third at 19-1.

Trained by Robbie Bailes, Slewperstitus won her debut on the dirt at Colonial Downs in July, then finished second to Just Philtored in back-to-back stakes at the Virginia track before tackling the Lassie.

The winner goes way back in the region as her fourth dam, Golden Bullet, was bred in Virginia by the Christopher Chenery Estate (of Secretariat fame). The daughter of Restless Native won twice. Her Maryland-bred daughter by Assault Landing, Bullet Assault – bred by Hal C.B. Clagett and his wife Julie – won five races, was stakes-placed twice, including the 1989 Maryland Million Oaks, and sold to Eric Rizer for $4,000 as a broodmare at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic in February 1998. Daughter Ministers Bullet, a 2000 foal by Mr. Executioner, lost all six starts but produced two winners from two foals. Her stakes-placed daughter by Slew City Slew, Slew of Bullets, has produced three winners from four foals of racing age, including Slewperstitus.

Topping a Great Notion trifecta, Slam Notion pulls clear to win the Sprint and give the Rizers a double on the day. Trainer Robbie Bailes and Jevian Toledo enjoyed the result.

"She's just been a wonderful filly since the day she was born, she's just been a joy," Eric said. "She's taking us on a beautiful trip right now. We're just going to ride it as far as we can. When she retires one day, she'll be a lovely broodmare on our farm."

Seven races later, the Rizers were back in the winner's circle – this time with 3-year-old Great Notion gelding Slam Notion in the $100,000 Fair Hill Training Center Sprint – to close the day. From post five, he and Toledo bounced off a rival early, eased into contention while four wide on the turn and took over in the stretch to win by 1¼ lengths, topping a Great Notion trifecta over the Grade 1-placed Twisted Ride and Haileysfirstnotion. The winner covered 6 furlongs in 1:10.17 and won for the sixth time in 11 starts while pushing his career earnings to $294,770.

Slam Notion is a relative newcomer to the Rizer fold as his dam Balestra cost $4,500 at Keeneland January in 2011. Her foals include 11-time winner Boppin Anda Weavin, three-time winner Baleroom Dancer, seven-time winner Subject to Change and double winner Stronger Than Dex.

A trainer since 1989, Bailes didn't predict the double but thought his horses were peaking into the big day. He expressed his optimism in a conversation with his sister Renee Webb the day before.

"What do you think?" she asked.

"Renee, I'm really pumped up for tomorrow," he replied.

"You don't usually talk like that before a race," Renee said.

No, her brother doesn't.

"She's probably the only one I would say that to," Bailes said. "She doesn't know too much about racing, but she follows my horses a little," said Bailes. "She asked me what I thought and I told her. You know in this game, what you really think is going to happen most of the time doesn't happen. When it does, you better appreciate it."

The horses backed up the positive thoughts.

"The only thing I was wondering a little was the filly only ran at Colonial and Slam really picked up his game huge at Colonial," Bailes said. "Were they going to take those efforts to Maryland on a different track? Their first couple works here weren't what I was looking for, but their last works going into the stakes everything was all good."

Eric Rizer passed along plenty of credit – to his wife for being "mom" to a growing group of quality horses, to farm manager Lamont Grayson and to Bailes for helping the horses reach their potential.

"A lot of people don't understand there are many years before that horse ever even makes it to the track," he said. "It's all instrumental."

Ownership has privileges

When he retired almost six years ago, Richard Erickson made a list of things he wanted to do to stay busy. Go racing at Arlington Park in Chicago at least once a month made the list.

Erickson stuck to his plan, went to the track in April 2020 and was told to leave.

Had to Have Him (Force the Pass) heads to the winner's circle after the Turf Sprint.

"It was Covid, they wouldn't let me in," he said. "You had to own a horse to get in, so I bought a horse and it's just been so much fun. I've learned so much from owning horses. I had no interest in horses really; I just thought I'd go to the track."

And he's still going.

Erickson, whose Gracie Mae Stables is named after his Goldendoodle, and partner Curt Gielow of Great Lake Stable, won the $100,000 1/ST BET Turf Sprint with Had to Have Him, a 4-year-old Force the Pass gelding claimed for $20,000 in January 2024. The bay rated in fourth early, rallied four wide on the turn and outran Whenigettoheaven to score by three-quarters of a length in 1:02.47 for 5½ furlongs on the firm turf. Jevian Toledo rode the winner for trainer John Salzman Jr., who took over from his father John Sr. this year.

Give the elder Salzman credit for the claim, which came in the horse's second start.

"John Sr. saw something because he told us we had to have this horse," said Erickson. "That was after he'd run one race. John did well with the horse and when he retired, we moved over to John Jr.

Breeder Wes Carter sold the Maryland-bred for $32,000 at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic's June 2-year-old sale in 2023 and he finished 11th of 12 in his debut for Colts Neck Stables and trainer Jorge Duarte. Dropped in for a tag next time, he won and changed hands. After losing four dirt starts, he moved to the turf and won two allowance races last year before finishing third in the 2024 Turf Sprint.

This year's edition changed when morning-line favorite Witty scratched. He'd beaten Had to Have Him by a neck two starts back at Colonial Downs and led the field with 11 wins and a $914,282 bankroll. Had to Have Him came in off a win in the Laurel Dash Sept. 13, and made the form stand up with his sixth lifetime victory and second in a stakes while pushing his career earnings to $346,030.

Erickson and Gielow live in Wisconsin and campaign horses in Illinois and Maryland, with races such as the Maryland Million factoring into the plans.

"It's a good place to race horses," Erickson said of Maryland. "We're a small stable, and we have some really nice races here in Maryland where if we went to Kentucky, it would have been a little more expensive to play the game. It's a little deeper water. Winning something like this is special. We're just a little bitty stable, and we like to say we're playing a rich man's game with nickels and dimes."

Reset works for Distaff winner

After 11 races in eight months to start her career, Onyx Ten made like a college professor and took a sabbatical. The vacation did not include any research, but paid off as she won her second race off a six-month break in the $102,030 Shamrock Farm Distaff for fillies and mares.

Bred in Maryland by her owner Frank Sample, the 3-year-old daughter of Street Magician navigated to the rail from post three and stayed there around the turn before tipping out and running down Green Eyed Monster in the stretch to score by 1¾ lengths. Foxy Junior, the 2024 Distaff winner, settled for third after 7 furlongs in 1:24.34.

Yedsit Hazelwood rode the winner, who collected her fifth lifetime victory and third in a stakes while pushing her earnings to $309,065.

"We ran her a lot as a 2-year-old and early 3-year-old, and she came every step of the way," said trainer Gary Capuano. "She was just grinding it out and this winter, early spring, she reeled off a couple of stakes races, and then I ran her in a mile race. She just was tailing off, so we kicked her out, gave her the summer off, brought her back, and she's just been training great."

The bay filly won just once in eight starts as a 2-year-old last year, but placed in two stakes and finished fifth as the favorite in the 2024 Maryland Million Lassie. She stayed busy and opened her 3-year-old season with stakes wins in the Xtra Heat and Wide Country at Laurel. Her fifth in the Beyond the Wire in March was her ninth consecutive month with at least one start. Capuano gave credit Lynn Ashby for some time on the farm in Delaware, and passed on even more plaudits to Onyx Ten who returned with an allowance win at Delaware Park Sept. 14.

"The first target was the Delaware race," the trainer said. "We were hoping to get her ready for that because she was training so good coming up to that. Then obviously, if she ran well there, this was the next step. The timing was right. Everything worked out just right, which doesn't always happen with these horses."

Onyx Ten's dam Chattolanee won two races for Sample and Capuano. Her first three foals to race, by Washington State stallions Coast Guard and Raised a Secret, include winners Raven's Quest and Secret Zipper. Sample splits time between a home in Florida and his Ravenswood Farm in Issaquah, Wash., but keeps most of his horses in the Mid-Atlantic with Ashby, Capuano and Becky Davis.

Big move pays off for Big Cuddle

Savvy Maryland Million fans know right where to find Capuano on the big day – alone, intense and watching a runner while leaning against a pillar just down the stretch from the winner's circle.

Two races after winning the Distaff from that spot, Capuano settled in for the $102,040 Fasig-Tipton Nursery for 2-year-olds. By the time the field left the gate, nobody would have blamed Capuano if he pulled that pillar from the ground and sold it for scrap. First, Buds Notion got scratched by the track veterinarian. Then, favorite Big Cuddle got bumped and pinched back leaving from post four and spotted a dozen rivals about 10 lengths.

Great Notion completed a juvenile sweep when his son Big Cuddle and Yedsit Hazelwood arrive in time to win the Nursery after getting left behind early.

Last early, he advanced to 10th after a quarter-mile in :22.67 while settling into a long stride. Midway on the turn, he was eighth. Angled off the turn by Hazlewood, Big Cuddle charged into the fray while seven wide at the top of the stretch, switched leads like an older horse, came around Lundi Loot in mid-stretch and swept past 20-1 shot Mo's Glitter in the final strides to win by three-quarters of a length.

"Oh, well, this isn't good," Capuano said of his initial thoughts. "They scratch one in the post parade, and then he gets away bad. I'm like, 'Oh no, it's downhill from here.' But I was rooting hard coming through the stretch. I could see him coming, and I know he's a fit horse. It's just whether or not he had enough ground to make up enough time to get there. For 2-year-olds, you don't see that too often when they overcome adversity like that and still be able to win. They might hit the board or finish up good, but he was able to just really grind it out and get to the wire. That was phenomenal."

Bred by Two Legends Farm and purchased by Capuano for $30,000 at the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic yearling sale, the bay colt won his debut at Delaware Park Sept. 11 and was promptly aimed for the Maryland Million for owner Pocket 3's Racing. Capuano picked out the Nursery winner at Timonium based on looks, sire power and at least some familiarity with the family via Padrino's Gold (a filly he bought and trained) and Devil Pays in Gold (who won for Capuano's son Phil).

"I buy a lot of yearlings," said Capuano. "I've had a few of them in the family and I figured, this one, by Great Notion, you can't beat that. He's the man. I had to take a shot at him. He was a good-looking horse and we were able to get him."

Worth a Dime pays off

Trainer Tim Keefe won three Maryland Million Classics and 17 total races with Eighttofasttocatch more than a decade ago, and still thinks about the luxury of training such a horse.

"I always say that the easiest horse I've ever trained is Eighttofasttocatch because I always knew when his races were going to go," Keefe said. "The races are going to go, you can train them for a race. When you can't train them for a race, it's just tough."

Eighttofasttocatch ran in 27 consecutive stakes to finish his career. Worth a Dime has a long way to go to match that, but she presents a good example of Keefe's point. The 3-year-old daughter of Mosler ran in four turf sprints to start her career, a debut maiden win in May and three allowance defeats, all while trying to find a longer race as a stepping stone to the $125,000 Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance Ladies at 1⅛ miles on the turf.

"When she won first time out, to be honest with you, it was a bit of a . . . not a shocker, but I was like, 'Wow,' " Keefe said. "Then it was just not finding the right distances and everything for her. I was just so frustrated."

On Sept. 7 at Laurel, Worth a Dime finished seventh going 5½ furlongs and Keefe hoped one more prep would go two weeks later. It didn't. In his words, the trainer "went crazy." Racing secretary Jillian Tullock told Keefe to be patient and put up an extra. Thirteen days ahead of the Maryland Million, Worth a Dime made her first start around two turns and finished fifth after leading early.

Mission accomplished. Sent off at 11-1 against seven rivals in the Ladies, Worth a Dime rated for jockey Jorge Ruiz and was last after 2023 winner Precious Avary sped the first half-mile in :47.31. Still behind everybody after 6 furlongs, Worth a Dime leaned out, revved up, split horses in the stretch and drew off by 2½ lengths over Juniper Juice with Touisset third after 1:41.90.

"She does everything right, she doesn't do anything wrong, the vets don't know her, anybody can ride her in the morning," Keefe said of the new stakes winner. "She just flies under the radar."

Bred and owned by Nancy Lee Farms, the bay filly more than doubled her lifetime earnings to $109,058 and gave Keefe his second win of the day – and eighth Million win.

A Maryland-bred who drew in late, Coringa (right) stays clear to win the Turf for trainer Mike Trombetta.

Scratching the Surface

Mike Trombetta didn't necessarily script Coringa's win in the $125,000 John Deere Turf, but helped orchestrate it by scratching Sky's Not Falling the morning of the race. The defection opened a slot for the Maryland-bred (but not Maryland-sired) Coringa to draw in off the also-eligible list and then blitz seven foes with a front-running victory for owners Clarke Ohrstrom, Greg Kilka, Awestrike Racing and Ben Gowans.

"The reality is Sky's Not Falling does much better with Lasix and the more I looked at the race and the more I thought about it, I couldn't bring myself to chance running him without the Lasix because, as I told my partners with that horse, he could run huge or not, and bleed badly. I didn't want to do that to him."

Bred by Trombetta client Larry Johnson, Coringa sold twice at Fasig-Tipton Midlantic – for $40,000 as a yearling in October 2022 and $80,000 as a 2-year-old the following June. Second in three starts as a juvenile for trainer Arnaud Delacour in fall 2023, the son of Practical Joke joined Trombetta's barn and has put up four wins, four seconds and three fourths in 11 starts. Going 1⅛ miles, he rolled to the front for Mychel Sanchez, shrugged off pressure from Goodbye Note, and built a clear lead in mid-stretch before scoring by 1¼ lengths over the filly Youknownothing with Jack's Legend third after 1:47.82.

Early pace has been part of Coringa's gameplan since the beginning. Relaxing came a bit later.

"The first time I run him was a train wreck," said Trombetta. "He took off, ran off and just overdid it. We took the blinkers off, and it's been clear sailing ever since. He's learned to relax, he's gotten so much better. I learned something with this horse because he developed so much more over time. This teaches you to be patient and give some of these horses a chance. He was awkward as a yearling, but he really came into himself nicely."

Move over, Edgar

With a triple on the card, Toledo broke a tie with Hall of Famer Edgar Prado atop the career jockeys' leaderboard. They entered the card with 18 wins, and Toledo wasted little time jumping to the top when Had to Have Him won the Turf Sprint, the day's second race. Victories with Slewperstitus (Lassie) and Slam Notion (Sprint) pushed the jockey's total to 21, three more than Prado and four ahead of another Hall of Famer, Ramon Dominguez.

The achievement wasn't lost on Toledo, a native of Puerto Rico whose first rides in the continental United States came in 2013.

"Edgar is a mentor for me, and I'm pretty sure to all the people here," Toledo said after Slam Notion won the finale. "Edgar is a Hall of Famer. He's a great jockey and even a better person. It means a lot. I never really thought that I was even tied with him; last year, that was amazing. Passing him? It means a lot to me. It is a big day. It's the biggest day for Maryland people. This is my home. I live here."

Represented by agent Marty Leonard, Toledo has led the state in riding victories four times – and won 12 meet championships in Maryland. He entered November with 1,757 lifetime wins, paced by 10 seasons with 100 or more victories.

"My agent, I've got to give him credit, he works really hard for these days," Toledo said. "I've got to thank the owners and the trainers for all the opportunity and their staffs. They do a good job with the horses. That's what it takes. I've been riding the right horses."

Toledo won his first Maryland Million races in 2015, with Corvus, Lexington Street and Stolen Love. Among active jockeys, Toledo leads Sheldon Russell (13 wins), Horacio Karamanos (11) and Forest Boyce (10). Apprentice Yedsit Hazlewood has a long way to go to catch Toledo, but made his case with four wins on his first Maryland Million opportunity – the Distaff with Onyx Ten, the Nursery with Big Cuddle and starter handicaps with Sharmin and Formal Affair.

■ Whiskeyinthejaro got up in the final strides to win a turf starter handicap for Keefe and Terp Racing, whose partnership goes back at least two decades. The latest win came with some extra meaning as the 4-year-old Irish War Cry gelding was claimed for $12,500 in March.

"When I got started, all I had were claiming horses," said Jim Scott of Terp Racing. "The dream always was to claim one that someday would be good enough to run in one of these races."

Scott saw something in Whiskeyinthejaro, a $6,000 yearling purchase who was claimed by Joanne Shankle for $20,000 out of his debut in September 2023. The chestnut won at that level two starts later and captured a Maryland-bred allowance in December 2024 before losing four straight and dropping into the March race.

"I usually say, 'Tim, what do you think of this?' and he'll veto about 80 percent of them; he'll veto my bad ideas," Scott said. "Then when he thinks I have a good idea, he'll say, 'Yeah, let's go for that one.' "

Bred by Dark Hollow Farm, Whiskeyinthejaro made the cut, but lost his first four for the new connection before rallying wide and making every inch of the 1⅛ miles count on Maryland Million day.

"At one point in the stretch, I thought we didn't have enough time," Scott said. "Then all of a sudden, it's like, 'Well, maybe.' I was leaning. I know leaning doesn't help, but . . . it was nice to see him put that number up."

NOTES: Favorite Sharmin led throughout in the filly/mare turf starter, winning by 4 lengths for Larry Rabold and trainer Hugh McMahon. Bred in Maryland by South Branch Equine, the 4-year-old daughter of Mosler and Casablanca Lily (Ire) won for the fourth time and collected her third win in four starts at a mile or more. Three of her siblings – Bogey's Image, Master Seville and Casamo – are winners over jumps . . . Bush Racing Stable's Neolithica started the card with a 7-furlong filly/mare dirt starter handicap win for trainer Kieron Magee. Bred in Maryland by Maria Haire, the 4-year-old daughter of Florida stallion Neolithic won by a head over heavy favorite Cluck Cluck . . . Two races later, Formal Affair won another starter at 7 furlongs on the dirt for owner/trainer Jose Corrales. Bred in Maryland by Sycamore Hall Thoroughbreds, the 4-year-old son of former Kentucky stallion Catalina Cruiser rallied from last of 11 to win by 2 lengths . . . Northview Stallion Station's Great Notion had three winners on the day, to move him into sole possession of second on the list of all-time Maryland Million sires by wins. Now with 25 wins, he surpassed Allen's Prospect (with 22) and ranks behind only Not For Love (38). He now has at least one win on a Maryland Million Day card for 16 straight years . . . Country Life Farm sire Mosler sired two winners, both on the turf . . . The wagering handle was $6,178,171, a 20.4-percent increase from 2024. ■

WEST VIRGINIA BREEDERS CLASSICS® XXXIX

Well Coached

TEACHINTHERELEASE LANDS SAM HUFF FOR MURDOCK, COLE

By Paul Halloran ■ Photos by Coady Media

Growing up in Jamaica, Stephen Murdock would have seemed a longshot to one day become a 34-percent win trainer at Charles Town, let alone win one of the track's signature races – while saddling the 1-5 favorite, no less.

But there he was in the winner's circle Oct. 11, reveling in a 14¼-length win by Teachintherelease in the Sam Huff West Virginia Breeders Classic Stakes. It is simply not supposed to be that easy in a $270,000 race – especially with a horse who arrived in the barn via the claim box.

"That was extremely shocking for me," said Murdock, "but we were confident we would get the job done. I think the other factor we can't forget is Coastal Mission. We were concerned if he would be running in the race, but the connections didn't enter. [The millionaire Jeff Runco trainee ran in the Parx Dirt Mile three weeks earlier.] That put us at ease a little bit. I was confident in everything he was doing, but I didn't expect that. He just gave a tremendous effort, and that was amazing."

Breaking from post eight under Carlos Lopez, Teachintherelease needed four strides to get to the front in the three-turn, 1⅛-mile race. The lead was only a length at the finish line the first time and when entering the backstretch through a quarter-mile in :24.33 and a half in :48.18. The Windsor Castle gelding started to extend the lead midway down the backstretch, chased by Bail Is Denied and 2024 race winner Runaldo.

Teachintherelease opened a 4-length advantage heading into the far turn after 6 furlongs in 1:14.17, then found gears the other nine horses did not have at their disposal. The lead was 10 lengths at the quarter pole as Teachintherelease was "in a race by himself," as described by track announcer Paul Espinosa Jr.

The final time was 1:52.67, with Muad'dib, who ran in his fifth consecutive Sam Huff Breeders Classic, rallying for second. The ageless millionaire won the race in 2021 and 2022, ran second in 2023 and was third last year.

It was the fourth stakes win and 53rd overall in 155 starts to that point in Murdock's training career, a gaudy 34 percent. That also happens to be the career winning percentage for owner Robert Cole Jr., who picked up his first Sam Huff Breeders Classic.

"Well, I thought the field was quite soft, and we were lucky to get that," said Cole, who had 1,671 wins in 4,905 starts as an owner through Nov. 8. "The trainer has done a great job training him. But it always helps to get a softer field. On that night, there was a 7-furlong stake [Onion Juice]. And since my horse appeared to be clearly the best, the second, third, fourth horses went in there. And Jeff Runco's Coastal Mission had run out of town. So it was a perfect storm thing. Everything went our way, we made the easy lead and it was a blowout victory. Those long races, you can really roll up the lengths."

It was only the third race beyond 7 furlongs for Teachintherelease, who had run 4½ furlongs in 19 of 20 races when Cole claimed him for $20,000 June 20, 2024. The dark bay won six races for his breeder John A. Casey and Kristy Petty to that point. Murdock ran him right back for the $20,000

Teachintherelease streaks to a lopsided win in the Sam Huff on West Virginia Breeders Classics night.

July 19 and he defeated Runaldo at 6½ furlongs, then won the Frank Gall Memorial at 7 furlongs.

Murdock tried him at 1⅛ miles next and it could not have gone much worse – a nearly 18-length defeat when last of six in an open West Virginia-bred allowance Sept. 19. But the trainer was convinced the horse could carry his speed and urged Cole to let him try again. The result was a solid 1¼-length win in the 9-furlong Randy Funkhouser Memorial to close his 4-year-old campaign.

"I told [Cole] I think we should take our shot here because he's doing great, and I don't see why his speed can't carry," Murdock said. "His mom won a mile and an eighth race in 2017, and she won a seven-eighths race the year before that. So she had pedigree, and his dad [Kentucky Derby-G1 and Belmont Stakes-G1-placed Denis of Cork] was a distance runner, but somehow he has 4½ [furlong] speed, and that's a deadly combination."

Bred by James W. Casey, Teachintherelease's dam Romantic Cork won the Division of Tourism Breeders Classic (7 furlongs) as a 3-year-old in 2016 and the Distaff (1⅛ miles) in 2017 as part of a nine-win career. Her other foals include five-time stakes winner, and 2024 Sam Huff runner-up (as 1-10 favorite), Jubawithatwist, and stakes-placed winner Dadsnumbronehelpr. A 2-year-old Candygram colt, Casey's Tradition, has yet to race.

Murdock gave Teachintherelease an extended break, bringing him back in an allowance July 19, the first of four consecutive 7-furlong races to start his 5-year-old season. He finished second in the mud, then reeled off three wins, including a second Frank Gall Memorial victory, heading into the Sam Huff.

"We specifically claimed for that [running long]," said Cole, who bought his first horse in 1996. "We'd like to stretch as many out as we can, get the lead instead of sitting second or third in a shorter race. There are a lot of stories where things don't work out that wonderfully. But in this case, everything just aligned perfectly. He's trained the horse well. I picked a good one out of the [claiming] race for $20,000. You make your own breaks. We've done well."

Through Nov. 8, Teachintherelease had won eight of 11 (with two seconds) for Cole and Murdock while pushing his career mark to 14-for-32 (with 10 seconds) and $533,662.

Cole has five horses with Murdock at Charles Town, representing the trainer's entire string.

"I pretty much do everything myself," Murdock said. "I may have a hotwalker here or there or an exercise rider, but I limit myself to a number of horses that I can handle. And that number normally is four or five, and I take care of them myself. I've worked in an operation where we were responsible for 100 horses at a time. In order to keep an operation like that running, you need someone just as good as you as your assistant, even down to the foreman. And the workforce here at Charles Town is not all that at the moment. It's very slim. So I limit myself to the amount of horses that I can take care of and pay attention to a lot of the details."

The number of starts may make Murdock appear inexperienced, but that is far from the case. His father, Lenworth Murdock, owned horses in Jamaica, including a champion sprinter. When his father died, Murdock moved with his mother to Brooklyn in 1998 as a 10-year-old.

Murdock eventually got a job as a hotwalker at Belmont and he has been on the racetrack since. He worked his way up to groom and foreman and his first "major job" was working for trainer Allen Iwinski. Murdock earned an associate degree for physical therapist assistant at Kingsborough Community College in Brooklyn, taking classes at night after working at the track in the morning. That earned him the moniker "college boy" from Rudy Rodriguez, for whom Murdock went to work when Rodriguez went out on his own.

"I ran Rudy's shedrow at Saratoga the year he started training in 2010," said Murdock, who considers Phillip Scott, a longtime Tony Dutrow assistant in Maryland and New York, a mentor.

"That gentleman has a very extensive background," Murdock said. "He grew up around the Dutrows, came to New York by way of Maryland with them. He worked extensively with Allen Jerkens, Nick Zito, Sonny Hine. I would always hear all the stories and gain all this knowledge from him of how those legends would train the horses or what they would do, how they figure out horses. He was very hands-on."

Murdock lived in New York until 2020, when he moved to Maryland to work for Bobby Klesaris at Pimlico. He ran a few horses under his own name while running Klesaris' shedrow.

"It was a blessing for me working there, because I had all this information all over the place, and he helped me bring it all together," Murdock said. "I really think he's one of the savants in the game, probably the most intelligent trainer I ever worked for."

In 2023, Murdock and a client decided to partner on a few horses and thought Charles Town would be the best fit. He won a few races and caught the attention of Cole, a master of the claiming game.

"The biggest push for me was my wife [Schnelle]. She took her resources and invested in me and believed in me," Murdock said. "She saw that I'm passionate about this. That's where things really started changing. [Cole] is probably one of the sharpest owners in the game. He's very aggressive in placing the horses. It makes the job easier because you can have a horse that you think is worth 10 [thousand] and he's telling you, 'We have to run this horse for 5 [thousand]. That makes me look good."

Murdock – who got stalls at Charles Town in January 2023 and moved to West Virginia that July – and Cole have looked very good as a team, albeit with a limited roster.

"This situation is very unique," said Cole, a retired mortgage broker. "He hardly has any help at all. He does all the work himself. And when you're not delegating, you're doing it yourself and you're better at it than the people you hire are going to be. So that has helped. The negative with using Stephen is, you can only have four or five horses. And I have an appetite for more. I'd like to win more races, but you don't want to fix something that works."

Cole owned Shake You Down (claimed for $65,000) when he won five graded stakes and finished third in the 2003 Breeders' Cup Sprint-G1, and Rapid Redux, winner of 22 consecutive races in 2010-12 , and won 234 races in 2008 with more than 50 horses in training at any given time.

"That's too many," said Cole, a Highland, Md., resident. "It's too much of a financial commitment, and it's a headache. They don't run as many days as they ran in 2008. It's more sitting on the bench than running, so I would never get into it that much. But I would like to have 10. Certainly 10 is workable and not too significant of a financial commitment."

The plan was for Teachintherelease to try to win a second Randy Funkhouser then run in the Robert T. Manfuso Stakes at Laurel Dec. 20 before taking the winter off and returning for a 6-year-old campaign.

Cole said winning on West Virginia Breeders Classics night is always gratifying.

"They've done a great job out there in promoting West Virginia breeders and all the jobs horse racing creates in West Virginia," he said. "It's a night where there are a lot of patrons that don't typically come. It draws a large crowd from Baltimore, Washington, West Virginia. It's fun. They have bands, they have the dining rooms open. It's a great experience. Of course, it's better when you win."

Petty Perfect stretches for the finish line in the Cavada.

AROUND THE TOWN: Petty won the Cavada Breeders Classics Stakes with Petty Perfect, a horse she trains, bred and owns under her KP Racing Stables. The Candygram filly, coming off a second in the Sadie Hawkins on Charles Town Classic night, closed from sixth under J.D. Acosta to win by 5¼ lengths in registering her first stakes win. Overnight Pow Wow, the defending champion and 3-5 favorite, contested the early pace before fading to fourth. Petty Perfect came back to run second in the My Sister Pearl Stakes Nov. 8. Petty won the Cavada in 2022 and 2023 and was second last year, all with Hessica . . . West Virginia sires accounted for five of the nine winners, including the two richest races. Launching their careers at the late James Casey's Taylor Mountain Farm were Windsor Castle (Teachintherelease), Candygram (Petty Perfect) and Juba (Jubaslilballerina and Tricks R for Juba). Cyndy McKee's Beau Ridge Farm is the longtime home of Fiber Sonde (No Change). . . Runco and Ron Sigler each won two races as trainers on the all-stakes card. Runco, whose Sam Huff winning streak stopped at four, took the West Virginia Lottery Stakes with Zip Start and the Russell Road with Spotafreeone. Sigler took the Vincent Moscarelli Memorial with Tricks R for Juba and the Roger Ramey with Jubaslilballerina, both for the Casey's Legacy ownership group . . . Three jockeys made two trips to the winner's circle: Acosta, who also rode Jubaslilballerina; Arnaldo Bocachica, who piloted Runco's two winners; and Marshall Mendez, who took the Dash for Cash on Time to Rock and the WVTBA Onion Juice on No Change. On Oct. 23, West Virginia Racing Commission stewards suspended Mendez for 10 years for possessing an illegal electrical device on the night of West Virginia Breeders Classic program. The jockey was expected to appeal. ■

Winning-Ness

MID-ATLANTIC TRAINER LEADS NATION BY VICTORIES

By Alec DiConza

Jamie Ness graduated from South Dakota State University in 1998 with a business economics degree and jumped right into corporate life, picking up a job in Caterpillar's marketing department. This is the same Jamie Ness that, as of November, leads all Thoroughbred trainers in North America by wins in 2025.

Needless to say, Ness didn't last long in the traditional workplace before transitioning to the racing world.

"I went to college, got a degree," Ness said over the phone while driving back to Maryland from Parx Racing on a Wednesday in late October. "Everything was on a fast track. I got a good job. My problem was I went to Minneapolis, and the only place that I knew was Shakopee, where [Canterbury Park] is. I got an apartment there, and I had to drive by the track every day, back and forth from my suit-and-tie job. Six months later, I said, 'Hell with this.' I quit my job and started training horses. I lost my first 40 races. I didn't think I'd ever win a race, I really didn't. But, I had the desire to do it. I won my first race. I said, 'I only need one. Just one.' And now we're getting close to 5,000 races later, and I remember I just wanted to win one race."

After almost three decades of training, Ness has far exceeded his one-win goal. With more than 4,840 victories in his career, he led all trainers in North America by wins in 2012 with 395, and placed second in the same category four times, including in each of the last two years. This year, he held a 16-win lead over Steve Asmussen, the all-time leading trainer in North America by wins, through Nov. 11 and looks to earn the national training title for the first time in 13 years.

"It's cool," said Ness, whose 2025 win total was 296 through Nov. 8. "We won those standings in 2012, and then the last two or three years we've been second to Steve. He's a good trainer, a Hall of Fame trainer. To even be mentioned in the same sentence as him is an honor. He runs a lot of horses. He's got a big operation that I admire."

While Ness is excited about the prospect of earning the title, he's more focused on keeping his consistent win record intact. Since 2020, his win percentage has remained between 25 and 28 percent while his percentage of top-three finishes has lingered between 58 and 64 percent.

"For my owners and my staff, it [the title] probably means more to them than me, but any time you win awards, it reflects on everyone around you," Ness said. "To win, that means my owners are winning races, and that's what my job is . . . The thing that we preach is consistency. We're consistent every year. We're right around the 25-percent win, right around the 60-percent in the money year after year. That's what you're going to get from us. Some months are good, some months are down. Over the course of the year, that's pretty much what we're going to get."

Ness dominated the trainers' standings at this year's Delaware Park meet and outdueled Brittany Russell to a victory for the training title at Laurel Park's winter meet. He held a double-digit lead in the year-long standings at Parx – where he has won the last five training titles – in early November. With about 140 horses in his care between Laurel, Delaware and Parx, he will focus his attention for the rest of the year on Aqueduct's winter meet, Laurel's fall meet, Parx and Penn National.

Ness acknowledges that it will be a challenge to stay ahead of Asmussen, but it's a challenge he's excited to face.

"My foot has been on the floorboard for 20 years," he said. "We're going. It's a seven-day-a-week grind around here, we run every day between all the tracks. There's no letting up. Steve has a lot of horses. He could get on a hot streak and close us up pretty quick, in no time. I've got to keep pushing on like we're head and head."

One highlight to Ness' year has been the consistency of He's in Charge, a 7-year-old gelding who boasts nine wins (from 10 starts) this season, tied for second most in North America through Nov. 11. The wins came in consecutive fashion after a January loss. Claimed for $17,500 in July 2024 at Delaware Park at the suggestion of John Witte, the owner of Madison Avenue Racing Stable, the son of Candy Ride (Arg) started this year by finishing second at Penn National in January. Since then, he has won one race at Laurel, two at Monmouth and six at Delaware, all in starter-optional claiming or starter allowance company, the most recent Oct. 9. This kind of win streak is something Ness has never experienced.

HOOFPRINTS, INC.

He's in Charge rode a nine-race winning streak into mid-November, including this win at Delaware Park Oct. 9.

> "It's absolutely been a success. We've had a lot of homebreds that have turned out pretty good. It's really extra nice when you foal one."
> – Trainer (and breeder) Jamie Ness

"I've been doing this a long time, 25 years. I've never had a horse win nine races in a row," he said. "It's hard . . . We'll try to search out our spot now to try to go for 10 in a row. He's just a model of consistency. He emulates our stable. A blue-collar hard knocker, brings it every time. We're proud of him."

He's in Charge scratched out of a starter-optional claimer at Finger Lakes in late October, but Ness said he'll be back soon to test his win streak.

"We had to ship a long way to Finger Lakes for a $20,000 purse," Ness said. "They put 130 pounds on him. There were just a lot of variables. I was just like, 'We'll wait [for] another day.' I just didn't want to ship that far carrying 130 pounds, going to a track he's never been at. It set him up for a possible defeat, and we're trying to keep the win streak going. He's still got more wins in the tank coming."

In addition to his role as a trainer, Ness also runs a breeding operation with his wife Mandy in Maryland. After the horses are foaled, they keep the horses to race under the ownership name "Jagger Inc." They started with one mare in 2017 and in just a few years have increased their broodmare band to more than two dozen. Ness' mares have produced plenty of successful offspring, including multiple stakes winner Speedyness, an earner of $474,340 in his 22-race career.

"We bought a farm in Maryland in 2017 and we had a mare that I had run that needed to retire," Ness said. "We didn't really have anywhere to send her, so we said, 'We should breed her.' But we were like, 'We know nothing about breeding.' This is 2017. So we did, and then the next year we got three [mares], and the next year we got seven, and lo and behold, seven years later, we've got 25 broodmares. It's absolutely been a success. We've had a lot of homebreds that have turned out pretty good. It's really extra nice when you foal one . . . A lot of my babies, I ran the mares, so I know the mares. A lot of them take the same traits as the mares. We've got a pretty high-dollar breeding operation right now."

Products of Ness breeding operation are easy to recognize based on their names. Chances are, if you see a horse with a name ending in "ness," you've come upon one. Speedyness, Sassafrassness, Bossyness, Blondieness and Chickieness are some recent examples of this trend.

"We were having problems figuring out names for horses," Ness said. "We started having 20 babies a year, that's a lot of names to come up with. When they're born, they always had nicknames. We just took the nickname, put 'ness' at the end and that solved our naming issues."

A native of South Dakota, Ness is a lifelong racing fan who caught the bug early in life through watching his grandfather's involvement as a small-time horse owner.

"When I was a kid, we had some bush tracks in South Dakota," he said. "My grandfather had a friend who was into racing, and he bought into a piece of a horse with him. He would bring all his grandkids out to the bush tracks on the weekends and watch his horse. I remember the horse's name, Tara May. She was the slowest horse in the world, but I was young and that hooked me at a young age."

But when the hobby turned into a career after Ness quit his corporate job, he knew he'd be starting from the ground. With decades of success under his belt, he hopes he can be an inspiration to other people who have dreams of working in the horse racing industry.

"If I can make it, anyone can make it because I started with absolutely nothing and I've gotten this far," he said. "To anyone else who wants to try it, it's possible." ■

RETIRED RACEHORSE PROJECT

Informed Decisions

THROUGH THOROUGHBRED MAKEOVER, RETIRED RACEHORSE PROJECT PUTS DATA TO WORK

By Kristen Kovatch Bentley

The Retired Racehorse Project's Thoroughbred Makeover is best known as a bucket-list competition for Thoroughbred enthusiasts, the largest gathering of those with an interest in Thoroughbred aftercare, and of course, the largest and most lucrative retraining competition of its kind in North America.

But the event is also a critical touchpoint for Thoroughbreds moving from the racing and breeding industries into the equestrian industry, and the Retired Racehorse Project has collected data on this transition for the past decade since the event formalized in central Kentucky. There's plenty of information to be learned. Here's what we know, and how it can shape future programming – and inform decisions made by horsemen.

The RRP collects and tracks information about participating horses in a custom database. This information is compiled and confirmed manually by RRP employees; to purchase data from The Jockey Club is beyond the budget of the grassroots organization.

Horses are registered for the Thoroughbred Makeover with their Jockey Club names, with basic demographic information confirmed against Equibase and Equineline; this information includes foaling year, breeding information including state bred, bloodlines, and breeder, the last connections on record, public auction information, and racing career information.

"With the launch of The Jockey Club's new traceability survey available to Interactive Registry users, the momentum is building to start filling in the blanks on what the Thoroughbred lifecycle looks like beyond racing," said RRP executive director Kirsten Green. "The reality is that individuals and entities working in the aftercare industry have the data that needs to be leveraged to fully illustrate that lifecycle; we're looking forward to seeing the collective benefits that sharing that information has to offer."

Other information is reported by the participating trainers, and this user-driven data offers a valuable glimpse into how horses are moving into careers beyond racing. Trainers are required to report how they acquired horses, whether the animal was adopted via a non-profit aftercare organization, purchased from racing connections directly or via a listing agent or organization, purchased via a reseller (defined as any secondary owner between the Makeover trainer and the racing connections), purchased via public sale or auction, or if the horse is still owned by the racing connections or related organization.

Additionally, trainers report the price or fee paid to acquire the horse and whether or not they performed a pre-purchase exam, as well as the condition of the horse at the point of acquisition: immediately off the track or breeding farm, let down and ready for retraining, lightly ridden for assessment, retraining started, or in need of rehabilitation or rehabilitation in progress. The RRP tracks the days elapsed from last race to the Makeover trainers' reported date of acquisition.

The data indicates a few trends in how horses, at least the population sourced for this event, move through established channels into equestrian homes.

The overall price of acquisition has nearly doubled since 2016, rising from $1,570 to $3,067 in 2024. This is the average price/adoption fee for horses, excluding those given away for free or a symbolic dollar. While some level of inflation is responsible for part of this increase, higher prices also indicate growth in the perception of value of horses retiring from racing, which can influence a more thoughtful approach to the timing of retirement and the decisions made in careers beyond racing.

"A rising cost of acquisition is the most basic economic indicator of demand, which is fundamental to the mission of the Retired Racehorse Project," said Green. "If owners and horsemen recognize the demand for their retiring horses, that could be the difference between a proactive retirement or one more start and a big vet bill. In turn, horses retiring in better condition will only contribute to improved impressions of the breed with sport or recreational riding owners."

While Thoroughbred aftercare as an industry is still largely viewed as a charitable endeavor, Thoroughbred Makeover data indicates that less than one-fifth of the horses registered for the event in 2024 were sourced from non-profit organizations. Half of the class of 2024 was acquired from racing connections, either directly by networking or via a listing agent (some of which may be under non-profit management), and another 25 percent of horses were acquired from a reseller. The direct market remains the largest driver of horses transitioning to careers beyond racing as far as participation in the Makeover is concerned.

Of note, more racing connections elect to retain ownership of horses heading to the Thoroughbred Makeover. Six percent of Makeover entrants in 2024 were still owned by racing connections, up from three percent in 2022.

While this data alone is fascinating for anyone with an interest in Thoroughbreds and the long-term fate of the breed, the RRP is utilizing its findings to better inform its next five years.

"When analyzing acquisition information in particular, you really become aware of just how vast the aftercare industry truly is. There are a tremendous number of individuals and entities that don't fit the 'traditional' non-profit adoption facility aftercare construct, and we don't have a means of organizing or tapping into that group," said Green. "We've laid out a road map in our strategic planning process that includes a prominent focus on how to address this."

With the vast majority of Makeover horses moving into their next homes via the direct market, a clear need exists for some form of directory or accreditation process for businesses and individuals who specialize in Thoroughbred listing and sales. The RRP already offers Thoroughbred-exclusive horse listings on its website for non-profits and businesses, but expanding this aspect of the organization's services will help more racing connections choose the right transitions for horses. The ultimate goal of the organization is to reduce as many barriers to horses finding the best situations for retirement as possible.

These identified trends can also work to normalize looking at the Thoroughbred's entire life cycle when making decisions about breeding, training, racing and retirement: aftercare is not an exception to the long-term plan for a horse, but generally the rule. This might look different for each individual or racing stable, but the RRP seeks to continue to put this conversation in the forefront of its work through its messaging and initiatives, helping responsible racing connections lead by example. This work has already begun through initiatives like Makeover Champions, and will continue to be developed as part of the organization's strategic plan.

Overall, the RRP has identified its unique role in the aftercare industry as one of the handful of incentive and advocacy organizations that works with all of the other branches: non-profits, individual businesses, resellers, listing agents, and in-house programs. The organization intends to continue to serve as a leader in this space, bringing together the racing, aftercare and equestrian industries to serve the Thoroughbred breed. ■

The Retired Racehorse Project's year-end giving campaign is running now. If you're inspired to help the organization continue this work into 2026, please visit TheRRP.org/donate.

SARA GORDON

Dr. A. Leonard "Lenny" Pineau, a small animal veterinarian who ran a practice in Baltimore City for more than 50 years with his wife Dr. Patricia Bradley, and grew a passion for Thoroughbred pedigrees and breeding at their Three Pines Farm in Maryland's Worthington Valley, died suddenly Oct. 25. He was 76.

Born in Baltimore, Pineau spent time at the track during his childhood with his father Arthur Leonard Sr., a Thoroughbred owner for more than 40 years. Lenny Pineau attended McDonogh School and became a member of the school's cavalry, where he served as a color sergeant. He later served on the school board.

In a January 2022 Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred profile, Pineau explained his first ownership was as a pinhooker in the mid-1970s while in his 20s. He and his wife bought their farm in 1979 and named it Three Pines by "combining their lucky number and the first four letters of their last name." In the early 1990s, they connected with trainer Mary Eppler. In the decades since, she trained for them and they also bred and raced horses in partnership.

Eppler trained the Pineaus' winning Kissin Kris mare Wood Not; as a broodmare she produced 10 winners from 14 named foals, including graded stakes winner Purely Hot (by Pure Prize), her second foal. Although they lost Purely Hot in a claiming race early in her career, the filly added to the family legacy as a $1.2 million sales broodmare and the dam of a Grade 1 winner. Another of Wood Not's foals, T Sizzle, raced for the Pineaus his entire career, won or placed in 21 of 46 starts, and earned $248,913. A full brother to Purely Hot, T Sizzle made ESPN's "10 biggest sporting news events of the week" when he won for the first time in December 2014. He was named for Baltimore Ravens star player Terrell Suggs, who followed his namesake and posted on his Facebook page "#Winning LOL!" with a link to a Baltimore Sun story about the victory.

The first horse the Pineaus owned with Eppler was the stakes-winning Smarten mare Ragtime Doll, who had been bred by Eppler in partnership with another veterinarian. When that owner wanted to sell in 1999, Eppler offered a half-interest to the Pineaus. When Ragtime Doll retired, she became the dam of 10 winners from 10 starters and a stakes producer.

"I love creating [the broodmare]," said Pineau in the 2022 interview with Sandra McKee. "The marketability of the mares that are new and recently in foal are now more valuable than those with good past product history. That's because the future is in front of you . . . It's like drafting football players. Their futures are ahead of them."

One of Eppler's early memories goes back to the mid-1990s and the Pineaus runner Electric Leix. While not a homebred, the Maryland-bred son of Marfa ran his entire career for them. He hit the board in his first six starts and Eppler entered the colt in his first stakes, the Northern Dancer, that November. "Pat and Lenny were going to come to the races," she said. "They came through the turnstile and Pat's water broke."

Off to the hospital they went. Their daughter Katy was born – and Electric Leix finished second that day.

The most accomplished runner born at Three Pines is two-time Maryland-bred champion and millionaire Jaxon Traveler, a son of Munnings who was recently retired to stud. The Pineaus purchased his dam Listen Boy for $26,000 while carrying her second foal. Pineau was quoted in the 2022 article: ". . . I'm not interested in bragging rights. I just love horses and the industry. I love the research. I'm constantly looking for mares and evaluating stallions and their ability to produce and figuring out how they cross with the mares I have."

Pineau is survived by his wife of nearly 50 years, his children Jennifer Pineau Wilson, Paul Pineau and Katherine Bradley Pineau; son-in-law Scott Robert Wilson; sister Linda Marano and her husband, Robert Marano; brother-in-law Bowman Bradley and sister-in-law Jan Bradley; and his grandsons Colton Pineau Wilson, Beckett Arthur Wilson and Cormac Bradley Wilson. ■

The Racetracks of America: Havre de Grace

By Josh Pons

Editor's Note: An excerpt from the recently published book The Racetracks of America, a project of the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame and the Keeneland Library. Mid-Atlantic tracks profiled in the 440-page book include Atlantic City, Benning, Bowie, Colonial Downs, Delaware Park, Garden State Park, Havre de Grace, Laurel Park, The Meadowlands, Monmouth Park, Parx Racing and Pimlico. For more, see racingmuseum.org.

What is it about long-gone racetracks? How do they stir the heart? It's more than mere nostalgia for fields of famous racehorses, or for wooden grandstands, or for stylish racing fans wearing fedoras and feathered hats. No, an esteemed quality clings to these old tracks. They are all victims of one sort or the other. You stand in deference to their history. You are not whistling past their graveyards. Rather, you stand at the gates to their burial grounds, hoping to understand what came before you.

At the stoplight where Old Bay Lane runs up to Post Road in the northeast Maryland town of Havre de Grace, a highway historical marker looks down on a pancake-flat alluvial plain. The marker might as well be a headstone for a vast burial plot. In the fields below, under a sea of wrecked Maryland National Guard military machines, forever rests the famed Havre de Grace Racetrack. Running off into diminishing points are shimmering steel train tracks. The warped horn note of Amtrak's Northeast Regional trumpets the train's passing. The marker reads:

HAVRE DE GRACE RACETRACK IN OPERATION FROM 1912-1950 . . . NICKNAMED "THE GRAW" . . . ONE OF FOUR ONE-MILE THOROUGHBRED RACECOURSES IN MARYLAND . . . MAN O' WAR WON THE POTOMAC HANDICAP HERE IN 1920 . . . EN ROUTE TO THE TRIPLE CROWN IN 1948, CITATION LOST HIS ONLY RACE THAT YEAR, TO A LOCAL HORSE, SAGGY . . . THE CLUBHOUSE AND GRANDSTAND REMAIN.

At that moment, the traffic light on Post Road changes to red. Cars stop. In the stillness, your imagination steps off the curb and through a portal in time. It's Opening Day, 1912. The eye sees what the mind has prepared from recent reading of Hoofprints of the Century, from excerpts in the long-gone racing magazine Thoroughbred Record.

Aug. 24, 1912: HAVRE DE GRACE RACETRACK RUSHED TO COMPLETION:

Keeneland Library

The popular Havre de Grace meet attracted the who's who of racing and huge crowds. This photo was taken in 1937.

More than 5,000 people . . . the crowd largely a New York one . . . In the betting ring, grandstand, clubhouse and paddock, it looked more like Gravesend, Sheepshead Bay, or Belmont Park . . . than like a child of Maryland.

Rampant bookmaking at New York tracks attracted the ire of the Progressive Movement. Gravesend and Sheepshead Bay are shuttered after Albany passes the 1908 Hart-Agnew Act, outlawing bookmakers. Belmont Park closes but would reopen in 1913. By then, Maryland has approved pari-mutuel wagering, stealing New York's dominant role as the place to race.

And there was no place to race like Havre de Grace:

A wide, 1-mile oval with a 6-furlong chute. Restaurants, lunch counters, and a café. The Susquehanna River backdrops row upon row of handsome, tidy training barns. Railroad spurs circle the passenger platforms of the Pennsylvania Railroad bringing race fans down from New York and Philadelphia to rural Harford County, while the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad whisks the racing populace up from the south. The train from Baltimore costs 15 cents; from Washington, D.C., a buck-fifty. The track's owner-of-record is the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association, but New York investors include August Belmont II and, some say, mob figure Arnold Rothstein.

Grainy photos from the inaugural meeting show crowds packed against low hedges overlooking the track. Graceful Ionic columns frame an arching glass transom above elegant double doors to the clubhouse. Mahogany handrails on stairways lead to reserved boxes.

On Sept. 18, 1920, twenty-thousand fans come to awe at Man o' War in the Potomac Handicap. Racetrack manager Edward Burke opens the infield.

Dorothy Ours in her biography Man o' War, A Legend Like Lightning, writes: "From its hasty opening in 1912 to its autumn 1920 meet, Havre de Grace had seemed loyal to its farmland ancestry. Its thick, rich soil . . . crumbled under foot like a freshly plowed field."

Over that uneven surface, Man o' War carries 138 pounds, 30 more than runner-up Wildair, 24 more than Kentucky Derby winner Paul Jones. After Man o' War wins by widening daylight, his owner, Samuel Riddle, declares the Potomac the best example of Man o' War's fabled talents.

Every meeting every year is better than the last. After the stock market crash of 1929, the track names a race card "Charity Day," and turns a percentage of the handle over to a relief fund. Maryland Gov. Albert Ritchie asks his legislature to waive one day of the track's permit assessment of $6,000, directs the fee to the relief effort.

The Great Depression drags into the late 1930s. Surrounding states legalize pari-mutuel wagering to gain tax revenue. Havre de Grace feels the sting. Further eroding "The Graw's" fan base, Maryland in 1937 licenses six half-mile racetracks.

Still, Havre de Grace continues to draw the best stables. Calumet. Sagamore. Brookmeade. Glen Riddle. Man o' War's champion son War Admiral wins as a 2-year-old. Equipoise, Exterminator and Seabiscuit all ride the trains into town to the cheers of race fans.

Citation avenges his defeat by Saggy in the 1948 Chesapeake Trial Stakes by winning the Chesapeake Stakes five days later, the first in his 16-race win streak.

And then it's over. Just like that. The last race: April 25, 1950.

In Annapolis that final spring, persistent rumors fly that the National Guard eyes the easily accessible track as a replacement for remote Camp Ritchie. Major General Milton Reckord, head of the Maryland Military Department, assures the Maryland State Assembly: "We are not even considering buying the Havre de Grace property."

You know how this story ends. Gen. Reckord is on the record, sayin' it ain't so. The Turnbull Commission will investigate. In 1948, Gen. Reckord had taken over from Burke as president of the racetrack.

In 1951, he sells the track's racing dates to Pimlico and Laurel, then sells the land to the government. By that time, Gen. Reckord had been named president of the Maryland Jockey Club, owner of Pimlico. Turnbull writes: "The efforts of an agent to represent two principals on opposite sides of the same transaction are always open to question. General Reckord (should) have given up either his position with the Military Department or his positions with the Havre de Grace racetrack and the Pimlico racetrack before the sale became a matter of active negotiation."

The new owners of Havre de Grace's racing dates – Pimlico and Laurel – cite the increasing competition from tracks in Delaware and New Jersey, implying in press releases that the end for Havre de Grace was inevitable. Maybe. But maybe Havre de Grace Racetrack might today be known as the Saratoga of the South but for the avarice of ill-informed stockholders and a duplicitous commander.

These days, in the old clubhouse, officers of the Guard carry clipboards up the elegant stairwells, grabbing the mahogany handrails without a second thought. When you drive into the base past an empty sentry stand, a guardsman stops and says, "No POVs permitted. You'll have to turn around." He tells you that POVs stand for "privately operated vehicles."

You have driven out of the past, back into today. The light turns green on Post Road. In the rearview mirror of history, you look back to where a lovely track once circled the shores of the Susquehanna. It lies buried now under a rusting fleet of GOVs: government operated vehicles. Victim of a conflict of interest? Yes. But in the end, just another complicated history of one more unforgettable racetrack lost.

Governor Moore signs executive order establishing the Maryland Horse Industry Strategic Plan

Maryland Department of Agriculture release

Governor Wes Moore signed an executive order Nov. 6 formally establishing the Maryland Horse Industry Strategic Plan to guide the future of Maryland's $2.9 billion equine sector. The initiative marks a historic step toward unifying the state's diverse horse community under a single, coordinated vision for growth, sustainability, and collaboration.

"Maryland's horse industry is a powerful symbol of the state's heritage, agriculture, and economic vitality," said Gov. Moore. "This strategic plan will bring together all facets of the equine community to ensure the industry continues to thrive for generations to come."

With more horses per square mile than any other state, Maryland's equine ecosystem supports thousands of jobs, maintains open space, and attracts visitors from across the nation and world through premier events. Maryland's horse industry also supports more than 28,000 jobs and $1.24 billion in wages statewide.

"From racing to recreational riding, from therapeutic programs to trail systems, Maryland's equine ecosystem touches every corner of our state," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Kevin Atticks. "This effort ensures that all sectors have a seat at the table to build a unified vision for the future."

The steering committee leading this work will include state agencies as well as representatives from across Maryland's horse ecosystem. These representatives reflect the breadth and diversity of the state's horse community, from Thoroughbred and Standardbred racing and sport horses to trail riders, jousters, and therapeutic programs.

"This executive order moves Maryland forward, bringing together leaders from Maryland's horse racing, competition, recreation, and wellness sectors under a shared vision," said Maryland Secretary of Labor Portia Wu. "Our Maryland Racing Commission has provided oversight for safety and integrity in Maryland horseracing for more than a century, and we are excited to plan for a vibrant future."

The committee will lead the development of a comprehensive strategic plan designed to strengthen Maryland's horse ecosystem across seven key focus areas:

- Strategic Planning and Policy Guidance
- Collaboration and Communication
- Economic Development
- Advocacy, Public Awareness and Promotion
- Education and Workforce Development
- Sustainability and Land Use
- Health and Welfare

The Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Maryland Horse Industry Board will partner with the Maryland Departments of Labor, Commerce, and Natural Resources; the Office of the Secretary of State; the Maryland Racing Commission and others to coordinate planning and stakeholder engagement. They will produce a report, including recommendations and measurable goals, to present to the governor and the Maryland General Assembly.

Through this executive order, Maryland affirms its leadership in equine excellence, preserving a proud, three-century tradition while shaping a vibrant and sustainable future for the horse ecosystem.

Maryland-bred Stakes Winner

Doc's Miracle gets her stakes win in Smart Halo

The 2023 crop of Maryland-bred fillies gained another stakes winner when Daniel Crowley and Non Stop Stable's homebred Doc's Miracle rallied from off the pace to grab the $100,000 Smart Halo Stakes against open company at Laurel Park Nov. 8.

The 6-furlong test drew a field of five. The even-money favorite was Maryland-bred Just Philtored, a two-time stakes winner who campaigned for breeder ZWP Stable and Gary Capuano's Non Stop Stable until sold after her debut at Laurel in May.

Doc's Miracle was Capuano's other starter in that May race and finished fourth.

She needed five starts to break her maiden, which came for a $50,000 tag at Timonium in August. Stakes company came next. She finished second in Delaware Park's restricted Small Wonder Stakes Sept. 14 and followed with a second, by a neck, to Slewperstitus after setting the pace in the 6-furlong Maryland Million Lassie in October.

Ridden by teenage apprentice Yedsit Hazlewood in her four most recent starts, Doc's Miracle settled off the pace in the Smart Halo as second-choice Prosecco Rita set fractions of :22.21 and :45.77.

With a sixteenth of a mile to go, Doc's Miracle made the winning move, circling four wide to overtake Prosecco Rita and pull away by three-quarters of a length in 1:12.14. Just Philtored was another 3½ lengths back in third.

The most experienced filly in the field, Doc's Miracle upped her record to 8-2-3-0 while banking $141,290.

A daughter of former Anchor and Hope Farm sire Long River, the last Grade/Group 1-winning son of A.P. Indy, Doc's Miracle is out of the Maryland-bred Archarcharch mare Hailey's Flip. Purchased by Capuano as a yearling at the 2015 Keeneland September sale for $17,000, Hailey's Flip became a stakes winner of $381,227. Her first three foals are winners, the first two by Great Notion: stakes-placed $225,220 earner Haileysfirstnotion, now 4, and 3-year-old Great Quality, a winner at 2 and 3. Hailey's Flip delivered a filly by Maximus Mischief in February and was bred to Essential Quality for 2026.

Doc's Miracle joined Dazzling Dame, Just Philtored and Slewperstitus as stakes-winning leaders of the division.

Stallion Season Auction set for January 19

The Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of New Jersey (TBANJ) will conduct its annual Stallion Season Auction from Monday, Jan. 19, to Sunday, Jan. 26.

The online auction will be hosted on the Thoroughlybred bidding platform at www.thoroughlybred.com. All participants must register with Thoroughlybred prior to bidding. The platform offers an automatic bidding option that allows participants to set a maximum amount they are willing to pay for a season. Thoroughlybred will then bid on the buyer's behalf until either the maximum amount is reached, or the buyer becomes the highest bidder. The auction page on Thoroughlybred will feature the conditions for each season.

All proceeds from the auction will go to TBANJ, which uses the funds to promote the Thoroughbred breeding industry in New Jersey. Stallion seasons will be added until the auction begins on Jan. 19, and a complete list of available seasons will be posted at www.njbreds.com.

For additional information, please contact the TBANJ office at 732-542-8880.

Race Results

COME ON ARLENE – WINNER at Thistledown, Oct. 6; 6 furlongs on dirt. Fast track. Final time 1:12.93. Come On Arlene faced adversity at the start after being bumped. Despite this early challenge, the 3-year-old daughter of National Flag managed to fight for the early lead, which she relinquished before reaching the quarter mile. But undeterred, she maintained strong pressure on the new leader and stayed close as the race progressed past the quarter pole. Responding to urging from her rider, Come On Arlene displayed determination and stamina, regaining the lead as the field approached the top of the stretch. From there, she remained resolute, driving on to cross the finish line first and secure the victory by 2½ lengths.

HORSES IN TRAINING - 2025

Please list the horses you have BRED or OWN that are in training or racing. The Association will put them into our stable on Daily Racing Form. We will keep up with them through this medium and have news for the association and for the Mid-Atlantic. We will only use horses that finish in the money.

This will let us know what our members are doing on the racing front and inform everyone about your successes.

I will still have to trust you to keep us informed regarding the breeding. I love receiving news on how the horses are doing, who you are breeding to, and how you did at the sales. It is hard to find the time to sit down and send me this information, BUT PLEASE TRY.

Please take the time to fill this out for your racing stock. Please list all horses, even the ones I already have, so I can keep our stable updated. Use another page if you need more room.

Kappa Kappa graduates to graded stakes winner

Three-year-old filly wins Grade 2 Lexus Raven Run in fourth career start

By Lianne Crossley

Matt Wooley

When trainer Butch Reid and his clients make their shopping list for Thoroughbred auctions, they strategically consider every Pennsylvania-bred. In combing the grounds at the 2023 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic Fall Yearling sale in Timonium, Md., one of Reid's stops was number 406. It was love at first sight for Reid recalling seeing Kappa Kappa for the first time. Two years later, he joined her in the Keeneland winner's circle after her gallant victory in the Lexus Raven Run Stakes-G2 Oct. 18.

"She was my number one horse in the sale," he said. "She had the size, the correctness, the attitude. She checked all the boxes."

Her $65,000 price tag turned out to be a bargain as she thus far has banked $278,375 while winning three of four career starts for Reid's Wellesley Stable, LC Racing and Cash is King. She previously raced at Reid's year-round Parx base where she won her debut by 9¾ lengths on July 24. She rebounded from a runner-up effort in allowance company to score by 6 lengths in a state-bred allowance test Sept. 19.

Bettors reacted to her big class leap to the Raven Run by making her the second longest price in the 10-filly field at 27-1, but her team had good reason to enter.

"It had a little bit to do with the numbers," Reid said. "We like the Ragozin Sheets and the Beyer Speed Figures and her numbers were as good as any in the country. Plus, we were running out of chances to race against straight 3-year-olds. We decided to go ahead and take a chance."

From an outside post, the daughter of Omaha Beach matched strides with the leaders early before dueling with fellow longshot Vodka With a Twist in midstretch. The pair were on near-even terms until Kappa Kappa regained command to grab victory by a head in the closing strides. Her time for the 7 furlongs was 1:23.90 with Hall of Famer John Velazquez in the saddle.

"She'd been beating up on horses pretty easily up in Philly, so she certainly showed some gameness today like we hoped she would," Reid said in the post-race interview.

Glenn Bennett of co-owner LC Racing also was in attendance.

"I was dying [watching the stretch battle], but the way she fought back, it was awesome," he said. "I couldn't be more excited. She's just a great filly. It's unbelievable [to win at Keeneland]. It's the first time I've been here and the first time I've raced a horse here."

Kappa Kappa's name is a nod to her Pennsylvania connections. She is named after Bennett's daughter's Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority at Villanova University. Kappa Kappa is among about 100 horses in Bennett's portfolio of large and small partnerships.

"I try to have as many horses as possible," he said. "For me it is the same rush whether I have 30 percent or 100 percent. It is about the action. Plus, it's no fun rooting by yourself. We literally always look at all the Pennsylvania-breds in the sales. It's a big thing. I like to go to the races at Parx when possible. The PA program has been great with the bonuses they have."

Chuck Zacney of Cash is King was not in attendance, but his name is recognizable as owner of Afleet Alex, the 2005 Eclipse Award champion 3-year-old colt and winner of the Preakness and Belmont Stakes. He shares ownership of about 20 horses with Bennett.

"Alex and the big stage was special but several years later, I realized it's not easy getting back to the big stage," he said. "Winning at Keeneland in a prestigious Grade 2 race is always nice. Lots of history there. We now know we have a special horse. Johnny V gave an excellent ride. Making her switch leads in deep stretch was a difference maker. One of the many reasons he's a Hall of Famer."

KAPPA KAPPA'S EARLY DAYS

Kappa Kappa was bred in the name of the Stone Jug Ranch of Darryl and Jill Myers. She was born and raised at the acreage in the Blue Ridge Mountain foothills in Dillsburg, about 20 miles south of Harrisburg. The land was once known for producing Scottish Highland show cattle before the herd was downsized. Named for the road on which it sits, Stone Jug Ranch had been in the same family for generations before being purchased in 2017 by the Myerses. The Myerses had drifted away from Thoroughbred racing while raising cattle but later circled back to raising racehorses. Earlier this year, they welcomed the impeccably-bred Tapit stallion Tyson – a Canadian champion and Grade 2 winner – to their roster.

Kappa Kappa was fast from the beginning according to Daryl Myers.

"There were three foals that year – a Goldencents colt, an Omaha Beach filly and a Dialed In filly," he said. "The Omaha Beach baby was born 15 days early. She was not an easy foal. Had lots of energy when she was young. She was very fast running in the fields. Always wanted to be in the front."

Eventually she was sent to the Keeneland September Yearling Sale where she was offered on the ninth day of the 12-day auction. She left the ring unsold after failing to reach her reserve on a final bid of $55,000. A month later, Reid saw what others missed when he had the winning bid at the aforementioned Fasig-Tipton sale.

As Kappa Kappa developed her talent, Reid was mindful to not rush her to the races.

"Early on in her training she had some issues," he said. "She was a big, growthy filly. We really wanted to take our time with her. I am fortunate to have owners like Chuck and Glenn who let me take all the time I need with the horses. We didn't get to do too much with her as a 2-year-old. She always looked good and trained well. She had all the regular 2-year-old setbacks, but it worked out because we didn't push on her. Our patience is paying off in the long run."

The Myerses watched her capture the Keeneland stakes from afar.

"I had a good feeling she would do very well after seeing her run at Parx," Darryl Myers said. "I was planning to go to the race but wasn't sure she was going to get in off the also-eligible list and we didn't find out until the last minute."

Although they do not receive state-bred breeder bonuses for out-of-state earnings, the Myerses clearly gained bragging rights and could capitalize in the future via Kappa Kappa's younger sister. Both were produced by the Pioneerof the Nile mare Pharoah's Princess, a one-time winner and half-sister to Grade 2-winning millionaire Pat On the Back. The mare had no foals in 2023 and 2024 and produced a Pennsylvania-bred Tiz the Law filly in March for Stone Jug Ranch.

"Unfortunately, Pharoah's Princess died this year unexpectedly from colic when she had the Tiz the Law by her side at two months old," Myers said. "She was the sweetest mare and she was in foal to Tyson. We had to get the filly a nurse mare immediately."

The youngster carries big dreams for Stone Jug Farm.

"She is growing up to be a very nice filly," Myers said. "We may sell her for the right price or just race her."

A few words from the Executive Secretary

Congratulations to the winners of our 3&up PA-Sired PA-Bred Stakes run at PARX Oct. 22. The Disco Chick was won by Nature's Candy, bred by Y. Kolybabiuk. A great story goes along with this win as the breeders, Jerry Kolybabiuk and his wife Maria, actually bred and raced Disco Chick. They were so excited after the win as this race really meant a lot to them! The Jump Start Stakes was won by the Elizabeth Houghton-bred 3yo Silhoutte Cove, trained by her son Bernie. Both breeders will receive about $18,000 in breeder awards as PA-Sired PA-Breds receive 40% in awards.

The 2024-2025 PA-Sired PA-Bred Stallion Series concluded on PA Day at the Races. The breeders of the top three point-earners over the six-stakes series split $50,000 in bonuses! Congratulations to the winner Honorable Win (by Winchill), who earned $25,000 for her breeder Pewter Stable. Carousel Queen (Uptowncharlybrown) was second in total points and earned $15,000 for her breeder Dennis Johnson. The third-place prize of $10,000 was split between Reelin N Dealin (Pat On the Back), bred by Barbara Rickline and Gabe Rispo, and The Boy's Warrior (Warrior's Reward), bred by Warrior's Reward LLC, who ended with the same point total. The Breeder Bonuses were presented in the winner's circle between the two PA-Sired Stakes Oct. 22. Congrats to all.

I'm happy to announce that there will be no registration fee for the PA-Sired PA-Bred Series which begins Dec. 30, 2025, at PARX with two 2YO $75,000 stakes at 6 furlongs. Don't miss out. If your 2YO is a PA-Sired PA-Bred, you will be automatically registered and eligible to run. Don't forget about our 2yo PA-Bred Nursery and 2yo filly Shamrock Rose Stakes that will be run at PARX on Nov. 26.

Congratulations also go out to the 17 breeders who surpassed the $100,000 mark in total awards through September! Our leaders, Warriors Reward and Uptowncharlybrown Stud, are fighting it out again this year. Warriors Reward is currently leading with $671,455. Wow! Will they be the first breeder to hit the $1 million mark? We have 303 breeders that have received an award in 2025. If you want to become part of our program or just want more information, give me a call at 610 444 1050. Good Luck for the balance of 2025 and remember, PA is the only place to Breed & Race!!

OFFICIAL NEWSLETTER DECEMBER 2025

Racing Across the Nation

During the time frame of Sept. 22 through Oct. 19, four South Carolina training center graduates found their way to the winner's circle at the end of stakes races in New York, Maryland (twice) and Canada.

Hit the Post, developed for his race career by Frank Wooten in Camden, was last out of the gate, then quickly moved up to take the lead in the Ontario County Stakes at Finger Lakes Sept. 22. He was never threatened, continually increased his lead and crossed the finish line 6½ lengths in front. Hit the Post is owned by Old Tavern Farm LLC, trained by Melanie Giddings and was ridden by Christopher Elliott. This 3-year-old New York-bred gelding by Kantheros has two wins and two seconds in seven career starts. He finished second in the New York Derby and Albany Stakes this year and has $168,783 in earnings.

On Maryland Million Day at Laurel Park Oct. 11, Barbadian Runner proved best in the Maryland Million Classic. Racing in the third position from the start to the top of the stretch, in a hard fought victory, Barbadian Runner outdueled Post Time in the race to the wire by three-quarters of a length. Barbadian Runner is a graduate of Bobby and Jason McCutchen's training center in Kingstree. This 3-year-old gelding by Barbados has run 10 times this year, winning five of his starts, finishing second three times and third once. All five of his victories have been in stakes races. Barbadian Runner is owned by AJ Will Win Stables, trained by Henry Walters and was ridden by Forest Boyce. The second place finisher, Post Time, is a graduate of Cary Frommer's breaking program when she was in Aiken.

On the same day at Laurel Park, Coringa captured the Maryland Million Turf. This son of Practical Joke took the lead soon after the start and never looked back, cruising to a 1¼-length victory. After going through the breaking process at the Travis Durr Training Center, Coringa began his career in a maiden claiming race and has now become a stakes winner. The Maryland Million Turf was his first stakes appearance in 14 career starts. He is owned by Clark Ohrstom, Gregory Kilka, Awestruck Racing and Benjamin Gowans. He was saddled by Mike Trombetta and ridden by Mychel Sanchez.

Reload Raleigh, another graduate of Durr's program, captured the Frost King Stakes at Woodbine Oct. 19 in only his third career start. This 2-year-old son of Reload, after an awkward beginning, quickly advanced, taking the lead before long. He opened up a 3-length advantage, then had to hold off a challenger but would not be denied, winning by a head. He is owned by Kevin Drew, trained by Barbara Minshall and was ridden by Ryan Munger.

Here and There

Gossiper, winner of a maiden special weight in his the first time over jumps at the Foxfield Fall Steeplechase meet Oct. 5, has South Carolina connections. He is owned by Adam Newman, Thomas Rice and James Stainbrook. All three are Aiken homeowners. Trainer SCTOBA member Arch Kingsley trains his stable in Camden. Gossiper won by 9½ lengths.

• Two training flat races were run at the Foxfield meet and both divisions were captured by horses owned by SCTOBA member Virginia Lazenby's Del Rio Racing LLC. Passing By won by 2 lengths and Rotterdam was a hard fought neck winner. Both are trained by Ricky Hendriks and were ridden by Conor Tierney.

• Puca, who was prepared for her racing career at Franklin "Goree" Smith's Elloree Training Center, has established herself as one of the most accomplished broodmares of all time. A daughter of Big Brown out of Boat's Ghost, Puca's son, Mage, was the winner of the 2023 Kentucky Derby and his full brother, Dornach, won the 2024 Belmont Stakes. This year, her son Baeza became her third Grade 1 winner when proving best in the Pennsylvania Derby Sept. 20. Three Grade 1 winners from her first four foals!

• Congratulations to SCTOBA member Stuart Grant and his The Elkstone Group LLC, the owner of Points Is Points who won an allowance race at Aqueduct Sept. 28. She is a product of Donna Freyer's Custom Care Equine operation in Camden. Stuart is the owner of the Camden Training Center.

• Also, congratulations to SCTOBA Board member Kip Elser, owner of Kirkwood Advisory. Cactus, a highly successful Kirkwood/Schumer yearling to 2-year-old pinhook (purchased for $52,000 and sold for $300,000) was an allowance winner at Laurel Park Oct. 18. He has won seven races during his career.

Debut Winners

Several of our South Carolina trainers were recently able to see their former students win their racing debuts.

On Sept. 24, Rubies for Olivia, a graduate of Randy, Jason and Kala Rentz's breaking program, won at Finger Lakes by 1½ lengths. She is owned by Glas-Tipp Stable and trained by Jonathan Buckley.

Raiding Party, owned by Larry Rodgers and Jamie Lamonica, won her first start Oct. 3 at Keeneland by 2 lengths. Now trained by Brendan Walsh, she was first developed at the Travis Durr Training Center.

On Oct. 5, two horses won their first starts over jumps at the Foxfield Fall Steeplechase meet. Attrayant, who came through Cary Frommer's program in Aiken, was an impressive 11-length winner. Owned by Thomas Rice, Adam Newman and Paul and Molly Willis, he is trained by Barry Foley. As mentioned, the second debut winner on the day was the Arch Kingsly trained Gossiper.

Map of the Moon, who came up under the watchful eye of Frank Wooten in Camden, won by a neck in a determined effort Oct. 11 at Keeneland. Owned by NBS Stable, she is trained by Kelsey Danner.

Cary Frommer watched another former student, Unbeatable, capture his debut by a quarter length at Hawthorne Oct. 12. Unbeatable was the only horse in the eight-horse field that had not run previously. Trained by Ethan West, he is owned by Bobby Polley, Twenty-Two Stable and Chris and Paul Tackett.

VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA DERBY, SET FOR MARCH 14 AT COLONIAL DOWNS, HIGHLIGHTS 3-DAY SPRING DIRT MEET

As Colonial Downs prepares to present its 2026 race days request at the Virginia Racing Commission's (VRC) next meeting on December 15, Senior Director of Racing Frank Hopf reflected on the 2025 meet in advance of what looks to be a busy 2026.

Total race dates in New Kent increased to 44 this year — three in the track's inaugural spring meet which featured a new dirt version of the Virginia Derby followed by 41 summer dates in a 10-week span highlighted by the G1 Arlington Million's mid-meet "Festival of Racing" card and closing weekend's G3 Commonwealth Derby program.

"There were lots of positives going on this year," said Hopf. "Adding that short March meet gave us a boost. It was unique, especially running all the races on dirt when we were pretty much known as a turf track. There were some challenges but we were pleased with how everything turned out."

The Virginia Derby Day card resulted in the track's first advance sale sellout in history as over 8,000 fans witnessed D. Wayne Lukas's American Promise cross first in Virginia's dirt Derby and advance to the "Run for the Roses" seven weeks later. The stakes victory was Lukas's last big one before he passed several months later.

The 2026 Derby is slated for Saturday March 14, final day of another 3-day spring session — pending VRC approval. "Tickets have been on sale since November 10 and are moving quickly," said Hopf. "We are adding more experience options but at the same time, five dollar general admission tickets are available."

In addition to the new spring meet, there were many other positive takeaways from

Next Girl (#5) wins the Claiming Crown Glass Slipper Showcase at Colonial Downs August 21 (Coady Media).

2025. "We continued to build a foundation for the racing program," said Hopf. "Forty-four days of racing was the most we've had here in quite some time. There was new cooperation with Maryland racing which worked out well — and I hope they felt the same way. There were new faces and stables from around the country that competed at Colonial for the first time ever and we hope many will come back next year. Dan Bork took over as Race Secretary — a move that was very well received. We have a good, small team here that works hard and is really meshing. All these aspects give me a good feeling about where we're going."

Colonial built a new dormitory in the backstretch which debuted in the summer meet. "With more race dates, no head-to-head competition with Maryland and a full barn area, we had a big need for additional horsemen to stay on the grounds," added Hopf. "The dorm was very well received. It's a big plus for trainers to know that we have additional beds for their staff."

The August 9th "Festival of Racing" card produced a $10 million-plus handle. "That was huge for us and provided an anchor for the summer meet."

New to the schedule was a Claiming Crown Showcase Day August 21 which served as a preview for the eight Crown championship stakes which were contested at Churchill November 15. The first and second place Showcase finishers automatically qualified for the finals.

The inaugural showcase day paid dividends in its first year when Rob Bailes' 4-year-old filly Next Girl won the $50,000 Glass Slipper qualifier at Colonial, advanced to the $100,000 final at Churchill, and won her finale. The Colonial race was decided by a neck while the final was decided by a nose. The winner was bred by Country Life Farms — headed by Josh Pons & Mike Pons —

Keys Discount (#4), with Graham Watters up, en route to an International Gold Cup win (Douglas Lees) and Fleet & Fancy LLC. The 4-year-old Divining Rod filly is owned by WWCD, LLC & was ridden by Jose Ortiz.

Looking forward to 2026, Hopf said announcements will be coming soon about race days, the stakes schedule and horsemen racing applications. "There are a few more race days so we may look at tweaking things slightly for the summer schedule. With Saratoga and Kentucky Downs running in the latter part of the meet, we'll take a fresh look where things may settle as far as race days and post times go."

And more opportunities for Virginia-restricted horses — which include Virginia-bred, Virginia-sired & Virginia-certified — await. "It's a really unique program," added Hopf. "We continue to remind horsemen of this aspect — that their Virginia-certified horses qualify to run for higher purses in these restricted races. We're getting a lot of interest from horsemen in other states. The restricted races have become a big part of our daily program."

PAIR OF STELLAR PERFORMANCES USHER OUT VIRGINIA STEEPLECHASE SEASON; 2026 JUMP SLATE IS SET

Steeplechase action for the year concluded November 1 in Montpelier Station with the 90th running of the Montpelier Hunt Races which were headlined by the G3 $75,000 Noel Laing Stakes which cast leading NSA owner Riverdee Stable in the spotlight once again.

Riverdee's Cool Jet enhanced his credentials as the NSA's top steeplechaser of 2025 with an emphatic victory over six overmatched rivals in the 2 ½-mile stake over Montpelier's signature natural brush fences.

With Bernie Dalton aboard, the nine-year-old Irish-bred toyed with his opponents, leading from start to finish, without any serious threat. The Jack Fisher trainee earned his third straight graded stakes win this season — he also secured the Grade 1 Commonwealth Cup at Great Meadow in the spring and the G3 Mariann De Tejada Memorial at Foxfield in October.

One week earlier, one of the sport's rising superstars cemented his place as a champ. Dolly Fisher's Keys Discount turned heads with another breath-taking performance in the $50,000 International Gold Cup 3-1/2 miles timber stakes at Great Meadow. With leading rider Graham Watters aboard, the six-year-old Maryland-bred notched his fifth consecutive stakes victory of 2025. The win assures Keys Discount the title of leading timber runner. He has earned $153,000 this year.

Looking ahead to 2026, Virginia's jump season will kick off February 28 with the Rappahannock Hunt Point-to-Point (PTP) meet at The Hill in Boston, Virginia and conclude November 7 with the Montpelier Hunt Races. In between, six more spring Point-to-Points will be conducted — three of which feature a sprinkling of NSA sanctioned jump races — in addition to six other full NSA sanctioned jump meets.

Following Rappahannock's kickoff event, the PTP schedule continues with the Warrenton Hunt PTP March 14 at the Airlee Race Course, the Piedmont Fox Hounds PTP March 21 at the Salem Course in Upperville, the Old Dominion Hounds PTP April 4 at the Ben Venue Farm in Ben Venue, the Blue Ridge Hunt PTP April 11 at the Woodley Farm in Berryville, the Loudoun Hunt PTP April 19 at Morven Park in Leesburg, and the Middleburg Hunt PTP April 26 at Glenwood Park. The first five PTP's are on Saturdays and the last two fall on Sundays.

Sanctioned steeplechase races will again be mixed in at the Old Dominion, Blue Ridge and Loudoun Hunt PTPs creating a trio of hybrid meets.

The 2026 spring NSA jump meet campaign kicks off with the Middleburg Spring Races April 18 at Glenwood Park followed by the Foxfield Spring Races April 25 in Charlottesville and the 101st running of the Virginia Gold Cup Races on May 2. The fall docket includes the Foxfield Races October 4, Middleburg Fall Races on October 10, International Gold Cup card on October 24 followed by Montpelier two weeks later.

Farrior finds Nutrition his Ace in the Hole

By Jeff Gilleas

The West Virginia Breeders Classics are premier restricted Thoroughbred horse races annually held in October at the Hollywood Casino at Charles Town Races.

This year was the 39th renewal of Sam Huff and Carol Holden's homage to local owners, trainers and breeders.

A pair of highly touted 2-year-old fillies clashed in the opener, following months of preparation, hoping to craft a West Virginia-bred Horse of the Year-type performance for their division. The freshman glamour girls of 2025 were C'Mon Eileen, bred by Mark Sell and Maurice Casey III, and Orange Canyon, bred by Coleswood Farm.

It was hard to overstate how impressive both youngsters were in their efforts leading up to the Triple Crown Nutrition. What we got after 1 minute and 21.85 seconds of action, in the introductory race of the night, was an unexpected outcome and a chalk players requiem.

As the select field loaded in the gate, C'Mon Eileen, trained by Brittany Russell, was hammered down to 1-2, with Orange Canyon and the year's leading jockey, Arnaldo Bocachica, for the barn of Jeff Runco, 2-1. Away to a smooth start, C'Mon Eileen immediately assumed solo command, which set the tone for her memorable first turn excursion.

COADY MEDIA

Edy's Flame cruised home a 3-length winner in the WV Triple Crown Nutrition Breeders Classic.

Cornering, as if on roller skates, the beautifully molded daughter of Complexity out of Wide Open, exposed her inexperience on Charles Town's snug clubhouse bend by veering into the three-path, forcing several rivals to adjust their trajectory. After a few yards of heels and squeals drama, C'Mon Eileen regained her sense of perspective, and using her free-wheeling expressive style, forged back into the lead. Tracking on the rail was underdog Edy's Flame (11-1), who seemed to sense vulnerability and would in time become a "rebel with a cause".

Torn between the chase or eyeballing his fleet foe, rider Jeiron Barbosa's decision was to pursue with the daughter of Flameaway and Mission Good Karma, as a trio of challengers played musical chairs to the outside. From Edy's Flame vantage point, the aerodynamic lass owned by Richard Burnsworth could probably speculate the size of C'Mon Eileen's racing plates.

Orange Canyon, tactically poised to unleash a bold bid, inexplicably idled in place, finishing a lackluster fourth. On Sept. 4 the regally-bred daughter of Vekoma out of Kentucky Road broke her maiden going 6½ furlongs in a freakish time of 1:18.94.

The puzzling misfire by the gently framed chestnut highlighted a 30-point decline in Beyer numbers, revealing the Jekyll and Hyde nature of first-year runners.

C'Mon Eileen had dominated in her previous start, the John McKee Memorial, speeding 4½ furlongs in a dazzling 51.37 seconds.

Aggressive measures in the Triple Crown Nutrition, to achieve her early advantage, combined with a stretch-out in distance, seemed to drain energy reserves needed when engaged mid-stretch by tenacious victor, Edy's Flame.

I caught up at the track with tireless self-promoter, Anthony Farrior, Edy's Flame conditioner and breeder.

As usual, Anthony – "please don't call me Tony" – was dressed in the University of Florida colors of blue and orange.

The man oft referred to as "Gator" is poised to comfortably repeat as Charles Town's leading trainer for the fourth consecutive year.

Known for his high percentage and robust claiming stable, his ability with young horses is also quite telling, evidenced by having won the 2024 edition of the Breeders Classic Triple Crown Nutrition Stakes with Diakonissa.

Me: You are listed in the program as breeder of Edy's Flame. How did that come about?

Anthony: I bought the mare in foal to Flameaway and she was foaled and raised at our farm on Route 51. I've had a couple other Flameaway offspring and liked their versatility and sensible price. My foreman at Charles Town, Jeffrey Allen, has a great eye analyzing sale catalogs and felt this stallion's potential is definitely on the upswing. This is the first horse, and first stakes winner, I've bred.

Me: Tell us about the impact of purchasing a farm in West Virginia?

Anthony: Well, like many of my competitors – Runco, Grams, and Brown – I now have pushed my chips all in. A & R Farm has added new fencing, paddocks, barn, and a state-of-the-art indoor pool to accompany its existing equine equi-ciser. The farm allows me to shuttle horses in and out of the racetrack that need some R&R. I love the therapeutic effects a pool delivers. You can keep a horse fit without applying unnecessary pressure to their joints and tendons.

Me: Recently, you won races at four different tracks in the same week. How do you handle the stress and stay organized?

Anthony: My success begins with my wife Kayla. We have 70 horses at Charles Town, 40 at Laurel and usually 8-10 at Mahoning Valley. Her organization skills, assistant trainers Cliff Tuomisto, Derrick Goetz and foreman Jeffrey Allen, Matt Dillon and Nick Spencer are indispensable. I am self-motivated. Nothing in life is as important as winning and the feeling you get from it.

Me: What makes the state bred program here special?

Anthony: The options in the condition book are abundant. Having the opportunity to train horses for the president of the local HBPA, Jim Miller, has shown me that politically our program is well supported by the legislature, evidenced by monies given back from the Haircut Bill. The WVTBA and HBPA work together so everyone can succeed.

Me: Foal numbers continue a downward course Nationally. Any thoughts on reversing that trend here?

Anthony: This is an issue for people smarter than me, but I would start with the ability to purchase a horse (weanling, yearling or 2-year-old) in another state, bring them here, assign an individual residency requirement to them, and after that period expires become eligible for the Accredited Program. You definitely would have to live in West Virginia to make this feasible. Maybe try something similar to what is happening in Virginia or reinvent the razor program. We can't just sit on our hands and do nothing. Declining numbers prove that's not the answer.

In closing, Anthony said he would be remiss if he didn't thank his owners, employees and especially two people that are like a sister and brother to him – Brittany Russell and Chris Melton.

"Kayla and I are the Godparents to Brittany and Sheldon's two children (Edy and Rye), and I named Edy's Flame after their daughter. Chris breaks most of my young horses and there is no one sharper or more loyal."

National Steeplechase Museum–
America's jump race repository, and a national treasure

By Betsy Burke Donley

The horse has dominated the Camden, South Carolina landscape for more than 200 years, with thousands of acres dedicated exclusively for riding, showing, training, schooling and racing.

There's no place more natural for a museum dedicated to American steeplechase.

Two transplanted New York sportsmen, Harry Kirkover and Ernest Woodward formalized the ongoing relationship between Camden and jump racing when they created the Springdale racecourse in the late 1920s.

The inaugural Carolina Cup meet was held in 1930.

March welcomed the 90th running of the Carolina Cup races, long considered a rite of spring in this small town a half-hour northeast of the state capital – and home to the University of South Carolina. Thousands of students, Camden residents and the region's horse racing fans converged on the historic Springdale racecourse for the March 29 event.

Marion duPont Scott purchased Springdale in 1954; she added a fall meet, the Colonial Cup in 1970.

A long line of active steeplechase horsemen and women have long managed the expansive course – used as a year-round training center as well as the two race meets, and have operated the National Steeplechase Museum located at the top of the Springdale backstretch.

Today, Springdale is managed by the Carolina Cup Racing Association, headed by Toby Edwards who also acts as executive director of the museum.

The NSM opened in 1998, created to foster public interest and educate the broadest possible audience through public events, interactive exhibits, artwork and publications.

The original building was a simple two-room structure purportedly moved from Marion duPont Scott's Camden house, Holly Hedge.

Preservation architect Henry D. Boykin II designed an addition reflective of turn-of-the-century style so prevalent in the small southern town.

The white clapboard building houses both the Carolina Cup Racing Association and the National Steeplechase Museum.

A life-size bronze statue of Hall of Fame champion Lonesome Glory flanks the flagstone walkway to greet visitors entering the complex from the parking area. The five-time horse of the year is buried near the statue.

Behind a small pond, several national fence hurdles are set up for visitors to get a hands-on measure of the height, width and flexibility of the official National Steeplechase Association obstacles.

The view as soon as you enter the building reaches through the expansive meeting room to a panoramic look out French doors to the Springdale course. A display of 'chase champion owners' silks encircles the room.

Exhibits on side walls depict the history of 'chasing in Ireland and England and its evolution in America. In the reception area, visitors can continue the 'chase immersion experience and step on an old-fashioned jockey scale or take a spin on a modern Equiciser.

Scattered throughout are memorabilia of American 'chase titlists, from the halter of Rowdy Irishman and trophies won by Flatterer to the Eclipse Awards of Zaccio.

George Strawbridge Jr. is credited with this area's sponsorship. Each of the museum's rooms is underwritten by titans of the turf.

The media room, named for Irv Naylor, houses a collection of videos of past races from England, Ireland and the U.S. Visitors can watch film shorts on Springdale history and select from dozens of others.

The Victorian Hill trophy room, sponsored by owners Bill and Renee Lickle, houses the original Carolina Cup – forged in Ireland in 1704, and the Colonial Cup – crafted in England in the 1800s.

The Bobby Davis memorial library is dedicated to the late rider and trainer gifted by the Davis family, Dr. and Mrs. M. Nixon Ellis. John Van Holland Davis III, who couldn't remember why he acquired the name Bobby, rode races from 1927 until 1947 and then trained horses until 1983, when he retired to spend the rest of his days in Camden. He trained three winners of the Carolina Cup.

The library is adorned by bronzes and 19 Paul Brown watercolors from the English Grand National in the 1930s. A large collection of steeplechasing and foxhunting volumes fills a massive bookcase, including one-of-a-kind books from England and Ireland and extensive racing and breeding records.

Curator Wesley Faulkenberry says exhibits throughout the museum change regularly.

"The museum really is a feather in Camden's cap, and is a great resource for anyone in steeplechasing," says Springdale director Toby Edwards. "Whether you've been in jumping your whole life or have never heard of steeplechasing, it's worth visiting to learn more about our sport.

"I support the museum as a member, and encourage all horsemen to do the same."

The museum is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Wednesday through Saturday, other times by appointment. No admission is charged, but donations to the non-profit organization are appreciated.

The museum can be rented for events and gatherings, from large, tented receptions on the back lawn to private dinners, weddings, even morning yoga classes taught during training hours with horses on the turf gallops as a backdrop.

A special backstretch tour and private guided museum tour can be arranged, free for museum members, $20 for non-members. Find more at steeplechasemuseum.org.

Meet National Steeplechase Museum curator Wesley Faulkenberry

Longtime museum director Hope Cooper brought Wesley Faulkenberry on in 2019 at museum registrar to digitize the museum's accession records.

He's acted as museum curator since 2022.

Faulkenberry grew up in another horse town, Conyers, Georgia, where the equestrian events of the 1996 Olympics were held. His family moved to Camden in 2007.

With a BA in history, minor in library and information science from the University of South Carolina in 2017, Faulkenberry's first industry posting was a summer internship at the South Carolina Confederate Relic Room and Military Museum.

Museum curator Wesley Faulkenberry

"It was an awesome experience and really solidified that the museum path was (what) I wanted to take," he says.

Neither of his parents worked with horses, but his mother worked as a bookkeeper at Hialeah in Miami.

Fun fact: He's never ridden a horse. "I had actually never been to a race at Springdale before I started working here," Faulkenberry admits. "Unlike most people in the steeplechase world, I was not born into it but fell backwards into it."

He was working at a CPA firm in Camden when museum director Hope Cooper came in and made an off-hand remark about needing someone to digitize the museum's accession records. "They hired me on the spot."

Toby Edwards points out that though Faulkenberry wasn't born to it, he's a living encyclopedia of jump racing. "I've been in steeplechasing my whole life while Wesley has been in it for five years, and he knows far more about the history of it than I do."

REFLECTIONS ON AMERICAN STEEPLECHASING

An exhibit of paintings by Sam Robinson to benefit the National Steeplechase Museum

Hunting and Steeplechasing, its vibrant culture and remarkable community, has captured my attention and directed my artistic aim. I hope that you, members of this community, can see yourselves on these walls—of course, at times, literally, but that you can see the vibrant whole that comes of the sum of the parts you play, the actions, places, and personalities that conspire to bring about the supreme moment when we hear, "They're Off!"

I have selected, from many years of work, a mix of scenes and subjects that I hope conveys that vibrancy. I am fortunate to have so many years of paintings to choose from, and to have found a subject that is endlessly stimulating and always fresh. See you at the races. ~ Sam Robinson

"Reflections on American Steeplechasing" runs online and in person at the National Steeplechase Museum, through early 2026. The online show can be found at www.SteeplechaseMuseum.org. All proceeds benefit the National Steeplechase Museum.

■ With one month remaining in the year, Maryland-based trainer Richard E. "Dickie" Dutrow was on the verge of breaking Jack Van Berg's single season record of 329 wins. The 37-year-old Hagerstown, Md., native, who didn't grow up with horses, had an 89-horse stable (46 at Laurel and 43 at Bowie) for 25 owners. Snowden Carter's interview with Dutrow at Bowie delved into his life, and views on the claiming business. He said there were 10 trainers from whom he wouldn't claim "because through the years they've done something for me. Like John Tammaro. There is no way I would ever claim a horse off either him or his son. He helped me when I was getting started. He advised me. Just being around him had a big influence on my life. . ."

Asked about stakes horses, he responded: "Sometimes I wonder what it would be like to have a high class stable. In some ways, I'd like it. But life would be a lot less exciting. That would be good for my ulcer, I guess. But I enjoy the way it is – the competition, the dangers, the successes."

Dutrow finished the year with a career high 352 wins. Ranked 24th all-time by wins with 3,665, he died at age 61 less than a week after sending out his final winner Feb. 13, 1999. He was a successful stakes trainer, most notably with Grade 1-winning millionaire sprinters King's Swan and Lite the Fuse.

■ Augustin Stables' Cafe Prince upset 17 rivals in the $50,000 Colonial Cup, America's richest steeplechase, in Camden, S.C. The 5-year-old, ridden by Dave Washer for trainer Jonathan Sheppard and carrying the colors of George Strawbridge, had only one win in three prior starts that year. The race's previous two winners, Augustus Bay and Soothsayer, finished second and third.

■ Never headed, Nelson Bunker Hunt's 3-year-old filly Nobiliary captured the 24th Washington, D.C., International-G1 over a deep field for the Laurel classic. The daughter of *Vaguely Noble held off champion *Comtesse de Loir, with On My Way II third in an all-French finish. Others Nobiliary defeated included her champion stablemate Dahlia (the 1973 International winner), English Derby-G1 winner and top U.S. grass runner *Snow Knight, and *Star Appeal, 1975 Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe-G1 victor.

■ Making his stakes debut, Admirals War Chest won the 30th Maryland Million Classic for owner/breeder Stephen Sinatra and partner Bill Niarakis. It was the first stakes win for trainer, Corby Caiazzo, and first Maryland Million win for jockey Taylor Hole.

Other surprise results were Jack's in the Deck nipping odds-on favorite Ben's Cat in the Sprint, and first-time starter Corvus leading all the way in the Nursery.

■ Ellen Charles and trainer Rodney Jenkins selected a gray/roan Malibu Moon filly out of the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale, spending $200,000 for the second foal out of the stakes-winning Lion Hearted mare Aspenglow. She was one of 13 sold by leading consignor Ellen and Herb Moelis' CandyLand as agent.

The sale's top-priced colt was David and JoAnn Hayden's Maryland-bred son of Bodemeister out of homebred stakes winner Safe Journey. Peter Angelos paid $190,000 for the half-brother to stakes winner Joy.

LYDIA A. WILLIAMS

Ellen Charles' sales-topping purchase was future multiple stakes winner Shimmering Aspen.

Both proved good buys. Charles' filly, Shimmering Aspen, became a three-time stakes winner of $415,660. Angelos won seven races, four stakes, with his purchase, O Dionysus, before selling him four years later at the Midlantic December sale to steeplechase owner Irv Naylor for $135,000. O Dionysus retired with earnings of $452,824.

■ Pennsylvania owner/breeder George Strawbridge had four homebreds win graded stakes over a four-day span in the United States and England in October. Pennsylvania-breds Holiday Star and Kitten's Point won Keeneland's Sycamore-G3 and Dowager-G3, Oct. 15 and Oct. 18, respectively, and Flying Officer captured the 2-mile British Champions Long Distance Cup-G2 at Ascot Oct. 17. On the same day, Canadian-bred colt Lucky Lindy captured the Hawthorne Derby-G3.

75 years ago

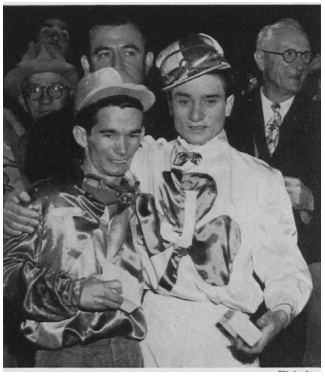
■ Christopher T. Chenery's Virginia-bred and -sired Hill Prince, a 3-year-old son of distance-loving *Princequillo, became the first Thoroughbred racehorse to officially wear the crown of "American Champion" through a poll conducted by the nation's top racing secretaries. Headed by "the dean of all major racing secretaries and track handicappers, John B. Campbell" the selection board sent out 36 ballots, one for each track operating under the banner of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations. They named seven divisional champions of 1950, with Hill Prince voted the best of them all. Also taking honors was Alfred G. Vanderbilt's 3-year-old filly Next Move; the only other filly in her division to receive votes was stablemate Bed o' Roses.

Wrote turf writer Joe H. Palmer: "It is the time [of year] when we look back at the completed season and begin to make a few estimates. One of the estimates here is that we have too many polls."

While the TRA poll results and that of the Daily Racing Form "coincided completely," he added that "the more expert the opinion, the more likely it is to be right, and for this reason the new poll has a special standing.

"Too often, in national polls, a vote cast by a sports writer whose only connection with racing is that he was in a more or less inebriate condition during the running of the Kentucky Derby, balances that of a professional racing reporter who has been watching horses all year."

■ Don Reed wrote in "The Racing Scene" column: "One of highlights of the fall season in Maryland was the bringing of Willie Shoemaker from California to ride one day against Joe Culmone at Bowie. The two boys are fighting it out for the national championship and Culmone had much the best of it on this particular day, winning six of the nine races, while Shoemaker could score only once. However, the riding duel created a great deal of interest and was generally looked upon as a smart piece of showmanship which helped the sport all over the country."



Willie Shoemaker and Joe Culmone were in a battle for most wins in 1950.

Born in Sicily, Italy, Culmone immigrated to the U.S. as a teenager with his father in 1946. They settled in New Jersey, and he picked up track work at Atlantic City. A top apprentice rider in 1949, the 19-year-old finished the 1950 season in a tie with Shoemaker for most wins with 388, equaling a 44-year world record.

■ Training laurels on Maryland's minor circuit went to a woman by a decisive margin. Mrs. G.A. "Babe" Saportas Jr. proved a consistent winner at all five of the state's minor ovals as she sent out no less than 33 winners in 50 days.

■ The new management took over at Laurel, with track owner Morris Schapiro's son John named president. The younger Schapiro said the new organization would strive, with the other three major tracks in the state, to bring Maryland racing back to its former high standing in the country.

In other track news in the state, Maryland Jockey Club's rebuilding plan to make Pimlico a modern and attractive racing center was thwarted by federal building restrictions on new buildings of all sorts, racetracks included, due to war conditions. Once restrictions were lifted, a building fund from the state, in "the sum of $717,488.88" would be applied to the project. The money had "been earned by Pimlico through pari-mutuel wagering in previous years. . ."

Improvements would include the replacement of the small clubhouse, grandstand and administration facilities in one structure, as well as a covered, sunken paddock in the rear, available to both grandstand and clubhouse patrons.

25 years ago

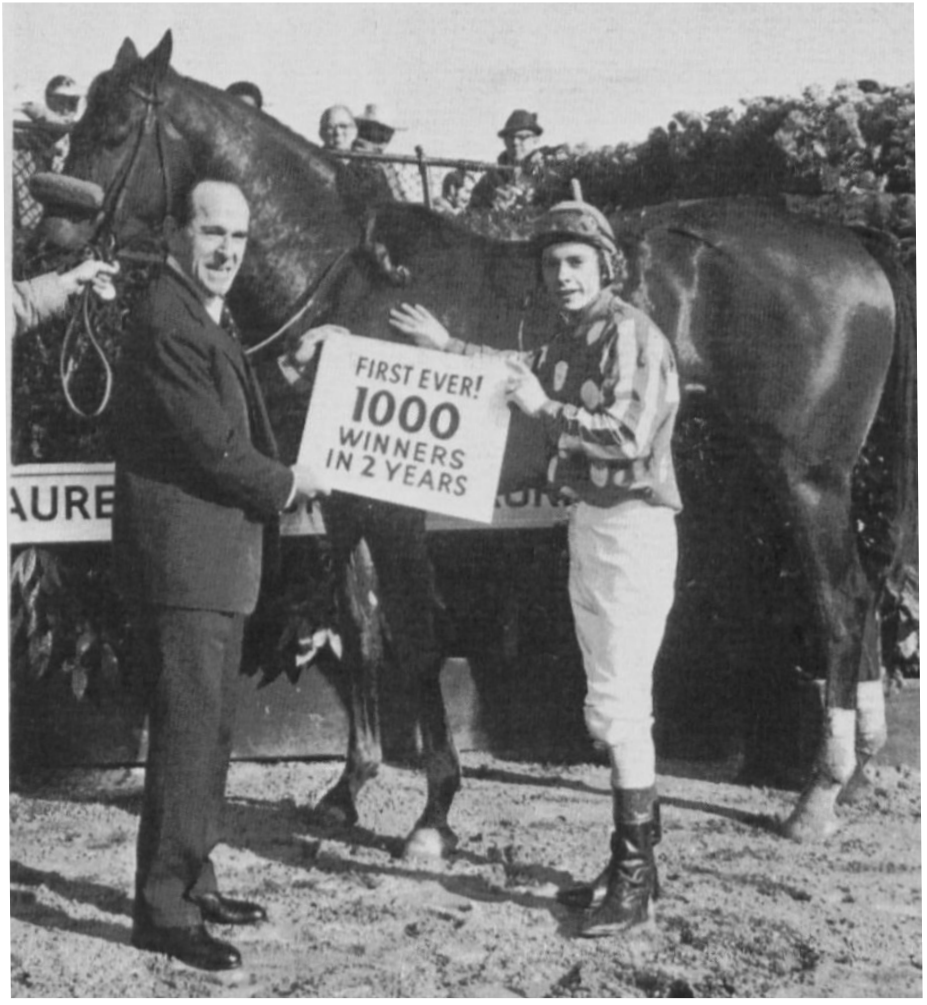
■ The Maryland Million at Laurel Park saw three women trainers – Kathy Dibben, Robin Graham and Mary Welby McGill – send out winners; rider Ramon Dominguez record three wins in his Maryland Million debut; and 18-year-old Allen's Prospect join Rollicking as the only stallions to have four winners on a Maryland Million card. The son of Mr. Prospector, perennially a leader locally and nationally, rose to the top of the lifetime list of Maryland Million sires with 12 total wins. Tim Capps wrote tongue-in-cheek: "Rumor has it that Country Life Farm, home to Allen, is having to add a wing to the stallion barn to hold all the Waterford bowls he has earned for Maryland Million progeny successes."

Testing, a 7-year-old New Jersey-based son of Deputed Testamony and Maryland broodmare of the year Northern Sting, owned by Dennis Drazin and trained by Peter Fortay, won the Classic in his fourth attempt.

■ Major sire Lost Code was joining the Virginia stallion roster for 2001. Managed by The Stallion Company, the multimillion-dollar-earner was set to stand at R. Larry Johnson's Legacy Farm in Bluemont for $7,500. The 16-year-old son of classic winner Codex was one of the best runners of his generation, won 15 of 27 starts (including seven in a row), four derbies (Ohio, St. Paul, Illinois and Alabama), and turned in memorable runs against classic winners Bet Twice and Alysheba when third in the 1987 Grade 1 Haskell and second in the 1988 Pimlico Special.

Lost Code had 43 stakes in nine crops and progeny earnings of nearly $23.5 million. His runners earned $2.1 million in 2000, fifth on the Mid-Atlantic leading sires list.

The Virginia stud career ended before it began. The most important stallion to stand in the state in years collapsed and died of a heart attack Feb. 10 as he was about to breed his first mare of the season.



Broken Record

Laurel Park president John Schapiro congratulates Chris McCarron on his 1,000th winning ride in less than two years after a Dec. 17, 1975, victory with Swinger John. Eventually a Hall of Famer with 7,141 lifetime wins, McCarron rode his first winner at Bowie Feb. 9, 1974.

The Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred has adopted the following criteria for stakes qualification:

1. Winners of all stakes appear in boldface capitals.

2. Horses finishing second or third in stakes appear in boldface upper and lower case letters.

3. Horses finishing second or third in graded stakes, as defined by International Cataloguing Standards, appear in bold face upper and lower case letters.

Abbreviations: ntr—new track record, ncr—new course record, nAr—new American record, nCr—new Canadian record, nwr—new world record. An "e" substituted for "n" means "equals."

In Stud Records, the name of the sire of the dam appears in parentheses following the name of the stakes horse.

In Male Lines and Stud Records, progeny are arranged in order by champions, Grade 1 winners then stakes winners by earnings.

NOTICE: The eligibility status of stallions nominated to national or state breeders' programs (Breeders' Cup, Maryland Million, etc.) is dependent on the nominators' compliance with conditions, rules and regulations of those programs.

Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred cannot assume responsibility for nominators' compliance with these regulations. Mare owners are advised to confirm eligibility with the stallion owners.

DOSAGE

Dosage is explained as follows by Dr. Steve Roman, preeminent authority on the dosage system, a mathematical method of measuring a horse's inclination toward speed or stamina based on the chefs-de-race, or influential sires, in his pedigree.

" 'Chefs' are assigned to one or two of five aptitudinal groups (Brilliant, Intermediate, Classic, Solid and Professional) covering the spectrum (from left to right) of speed to endurance. We assign a total potential value of 16 points to each generation. Since there are, progressively, one, two, four and eight sires in the first four generations, 'chefs' which appear among these sires will contribute 16, 8, 4 and 2 points each as we work back. The points for all 'chefs' present are then tallied in the appropriate aptitude columns. 'Chefs' which confer two aptitudinal characteristics have their points split between the two aptitudes. In the end, the total points in each column produce the Dosage Profile, a series of five numbers which reflect the relative proportions of each of the five aptitudes in this order: Brilliant-Intermediate-Classic-Solid-Professional.

"The ratio of points in the speed wing (Brilliant points + Intermediate points + ½ the Classic points) to points in the stamina wing (½ the Classic points + Solid points + Professional points) is the Dosage Index. (Dividing the stamina points into the speed points.) This number is directly proportional to the speed in a pedigree and inversely proportional to the stamina. A DI of 1.00 indicates a perfect balance of the two.

"Consider the five aptitude groups as points spaced equally along a linear scale where Brilliant is assigned a value of +2.00, Intermediate is +1.00, Classic is 0.00, Solid is -1.00 and Professional is -2.00, the DP allows for the calculation of the Center of Distribution, that point along the scale corresponding to the total combined influence of all 'chefs' in the pedigree. Calculation of the CD is done by taking the sum of (twice the Brilliant points) + (Intermediate points) - (Solid points) - (twice the Professional points) and dividing that number by the total points in the DP. An exact balance of speed and stamina yields a CD of 0.00."

PEDIGREE CROSS INDEX

This Pedigree Cross Index allows a breeder to nick, inbreed or outcross broodmares by easy reference. Indexed are the names of sires and dams within the first three generations of all stallions in the 2026 Stallion Directory.

Example: CURLIN - Curlin's Honor, First Mondays, Magic Spoon, Mr. Monomoy

In the above example, Curlin appears in one of the first three generations of all the stallions listed after him.

Suppose a breeder has a mare that is a granddaughter of Mr. Prospector or has crosses of that sire in her pedigree. The breeder may want to breed her to a stallion with Northern Dancer blood to take advantage of the Northern Dancer—Mr. Prospector nick. Looking up "Northern Dancer" in this index can find stallions in this register with Northern Dancer in one of the first three generations of their pedigrees.

If a mare is a granddaughter of Seattle Slew, breeders may wish to inbreed to that stallion and get more of Seattle Slew's makeup in the foal. By checking "Seattle Slew" in the index, breeders can find all advertised stallions with Seattle Slew in their pedigrees.

What if a mare is already inbred or linebred? She might have 2 or 3 crosses of Deputy Minister in her first four generations for example. The breeder may want to make sure the stallion choice has no Deputy Minister or no Deputy Minister up close in his pedigree. Looking for "Deputy Minister" in the index can readily identify stallions in this Stallion Register to avoid for a mare.

The pedigree cross index was prepared by The Jockey Club Information Services.
